NATURE LOOSES ELECTRIC FORCE AGAINST EARTH

Wire Services Upset by Mystery Bolts.

A mysterious electrical disturbance of almost world-wide proportions interfered seriously with telegraph, telephone and radio communication in Chicago and most of the nation yesterday and last night.

Communications experts were admittedly mystified in seeking to explain the phenomenon. Nature's electricity not uncommonly affects various services, but the experts said it had never before been felt so severely.

The disturbance took the form of electricial charges of great voltage that bombarded the earth and the seas. Its influence extended across the Pacific ocean from Honolulu, T. H., to San Francisco, Cal., thence across the United States thru Chicago to New York, and over the Atlantic ocean to London and other European capitals. Even portions of South America were affected.

Instruments Cut Capers.

In some places telegraph, telephone, and radio services were completely silenced for varying periods. In Chicago telegraphic instruments cut capers, teletype instruments wrote in pied jargon, and telephones and radio contended with static interference. For a time telegraph circuits extending more than 50 miles from the city were virtually useless.

Late last night a beautiful display of the aurora borealis, or northern lights, illuminated the skies with a green glow and shooting streamers, and was visible to Chicagoans. This was described as a manifestation of the electrical storm, but what caused the storm itself was uncertain.

Several eastern astronomers agreed that the probable cause was a solar cyclone which created a gigantic sun spot, many times larger than the earth. According to William Barton, director of the Hayden planetarium in New York, the solar storm sent a bombardment of electrical charges to the earth, and these in turn came into conflict with the normal direction of the earth's own electric or magnetic currents. The result was temporary chaos of electrical communications.

Ground Wave Systems Affected.

Most of the services drastically affected were those such as the telegraph companies using what is known as a ground wave. These companies normally use a single wire, grounded at both ends. They are equipped to handle 160 volts. An electrical visitation much higher tends to disrupt service.

Yesterday's electrical bombardment carried an estimated voltage of 500 in many areas, and in some instances actually burned out or threatened to burn out connections. To carry on service the wire companies were forced to install emergency neutralizing devices.

The disturbance was most severe in New York and other eastern states and in Wisconsin and Minnesota. In Minneapolis nearly 95 per cent of telephone circuits were disabled. But almost everywhere, on land and on sea, the storm's effects were felt.

Telegraph Service Crippled.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company reported that all its long distance connections as far west as Omaha were disrupted; that all radiophone service with ships at sea were out, and that trans-Pacific service from San Francisco was "only fair."

The Postal Telegraph company reported half its wires out of service for several hours, and the Western Union company disclosed that its service was disjointed over great areas. The 285,000 mile network of the Associated Press was shut down for several hours. At times the whole Atlantic seaboard was cut off from the middle west. Washington was unable to radio-phone European capitals. Ocean cables were silenced; one company was able to operate only one of its seven cables. In New York one radio station's range was cut from 1,000 miles to 20.

Long range communication services suffered worse than short range or local services. In Chicago police and fire communications systems were not disturbed, altho at the Chicago airport weather office communication with 500 other weather stations was curtailed one-third.

Communication engineers said that if the disturbance had occurred on a business day the results would have been much more severe. They described the storm as the worst since 1907 when the United States was isolated from Europe three hours.

ATTACKS COAL LADEN VESSEL NEAR DENMARK

Second German Boat Runs Aground.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 24 (AP).—The shell scarred German freighter Edmund Hugo Stinnes, 2,289 tons, sank with her cargo of coal today off the west coast of Denmark, where she was attacked last night by a British submarine.

Arrow shows where submarine sank German ship.

She was the second German merchantman sunk by a British submarine since the war began. The 4,947 ton ore carrier Heddernheim was torpedoed last Thursday night nine miles east of Scaw [Skagen] at the entrance to the Kattegat, which leads into the Baltic sea.

A third German freighter, the 5,000 ton Ostpreussen, was aground today off the northwest Danish coast, likewise a victim of Britain's increasingly sharp lookout for German ships carrying on vital trade with the Scandinavian nations.

Strikes a Rock.

The Ostpreussen, loaded with coke, met disaster after three days of harried cruising to avoid British warships. Navigating close to the Danish shore to escape detection, she hit a rock and with nine feet of water in her hold, finally was forced to run aground off the Hirtshals coast of Jutland. Her crew remained aboard.

Danish naval authorities immediately began an investigation to determine whether the submarine attack on the Stinnes took place inside territorial waters. They said the point where the boat sank was about three miles offshore, but unofficial quarters said it might have drifted inshore during the night.

The Stinnes, bound from Hamburg to Copenhagen, had almost reached Scaw at midnight last night when she received radio orders to return to the Danish port of Esbjerg, presumably because British submarines were believed nearby.

Warning Shot Fired.

The Stinnes turned about and was heading for Esbjerg when a warning shot whistled across her bows off Torsminde.

Crew members said the shot was fired by a British submarine, which appeared between the ship and coast. When the Stinnes failed to stop immediately three more shots were fired. One hit the bridge.

Residents of Torsminde said they heard four shots and then an explosion. They were able to distinguish the outline of a ship offshore but could not discern what was going on.

A half hour later two lifeboats from the Stinnes, one bearing 13 seamen and the other seven, landed on the beach. The sailors said their captain had been taken prisoner aboard the submarine.

British Naval Trawler Sunk.

LONDON, March 24 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the 210 ton British naval trawler, the Loch Assater, had been sunk by a mine. All the crew members were rescued. The Loch Assater formerly was an Aberdeen fishing trawler.

Norway Protests British Violations.

OSLO, Norway, March 24 (AP).—A protest against violation of Norwegian neutrality by British warships seeking out German vessels in Norwegian waters has been sent to London, the Norwegian admiralty announced tonight.

The Norwegian statement said that on the morning of March 21 naval authorities were asked by a German trawler sailing into Hustad bay for protection against a British torpedo boat sailing in Norwegian waters.

Later in the day, the communique said, while a Norwegian vessel was escorting another German freighter, a British ship entered Norwegian waters and signaled for the name of the German freighter. The Norwegians refused the information and ordered the British to stand off, the communique said.

Frigid Faithful Keep an Easter Date on Avenue

THE EASTER PARADE.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

They shivered and shook, they stamped their feet and blew on their fingers to keep from freezing yesterday, but thousands of Chicagoans were out for the Easter parade in spite of the frigid weather. Some were out to promenade, and others were out to watch the parade, but they all wore their winter coats, for it was the coldest Easter since 1894.

The temperature dropped to 11 above zero in the early morning, then climbed to 21 by the time the parade got started. The sun was bright. Elsewhere in the nation Easter worshipers and Easter paraders fared much worse. Thruout the east and much of the south and the west to the Rockies there was snow. Many midwest cities reported near-zero temperatures. In Duluth, Minn., the mercury dropped to 5 below.

Hats Serve as Easter Motif.

Chicago women depended upon new and frivolous bonnets and fragrant and colorful corsages to impart that springlike look that is traditionally a part of an Easter outfit. A few men wore top hats and Chesterfields over their morning coats, but more were in regulation business attire with bright mufflers and gloves. Yellow is THE color for such masculine accessories this spring, judging by the well dressed men we saw yesterday, and camel's hair coats are definitely in high favor.

As usual, the onlookers chose the corner of Michigan avenue and Delaware place, the site of the Fourth Presbyterian church, as the best place from which to watch the passing show. Long before the doors of the church were open to worshipers, Mr. and Mrs. John Public and the young Publics were there, moving about a little to keep warm but not moving far lest they lose their vantage points.

Store Dummies Wear the Gowns.

Only the lovely ladies in the shop windows wore spring gowns and suits; the live ones who looked enviously at the dummies wore the same coats and furs that have kept them warm all winter.

Men had their coat collars turned up; dogs wore sweaters, and children were in leggings and ski pants.

Open toed shoes and open hats were worn by some, and many young women wore wedge soles. Red, white, and blue all went to church yesterday, which means that they are "going to town" this season. All shades of blue from hydrangea to navy were represented, but practically only one of red—that rich, succulent one called pimiento. There was a lot of pink seen also—in hats, veils, and gloves—and deep purple and green, with more yellow greens than bluish ones.

Everywhere the reporters and photographers went—north, south, and west—they found the same sort of outfits: Warm coats and bright, saucy hats and corsages. No two corsages looked exactly the same, and almost every one was a triumph for some florist.

SNOWSTORM MAROONS 7,000 SKIERS ABOARD 16 TRAINS IN CANADA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., March 24.—More than 7,000 skiers in 16 trains were marooned in the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal tonight as the winter's worst storm crippled transportation facilities in a 75 mile radius around the city. The trains were not expected to get thru before early morning.

Twelve specials bringing skiers back to Montreal over the Canadian Pacific line were trapped when two snow plows were derailed as they attempted to clear drifts up to 12 feet high. On the Canadian National mountain line another snow plow left the tracks and held up four ski specials.

A strong wind accompanied the heavy snowfall. Highways also were blocked.

AIR SHOW GOES ON AS WOMAN PERILS ACTORS

New York, March 24 (AP).—A woman invaded a National Broadcasting studio during a coast-to-coast program today, and menaced actors with a property hatchet as people thruout the nation listened unaware. She escaped.

The woman, never identified, had been told that no visitors were allowed at a certain show, but a few minutes later she stole into the studio four floors above and was allowed to stay because the program already was on the air.

Then she wandered around and finally picked up a hatchet from a sound effects bench, crept up behind the actors clustered around the microphone, and brandished it over their heads.

Joseph Bell, the program director, grabbed the hatchet and pushed her away. She yelled a few incoherent words just as the program went off the air, and disappeared before studio police arrived.

That Wichita Ghost Is Just a Shade Wary

Wichita, Kas., March 24 (AP).—Wichita's "Ghost of Ninth Street" gave a psychologist all the answers but one in a midnight rendezvous last night. The unanswered question was: "What are you?"

For three months the bed tapping spook has defied all efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Lucas to solve the mystery.

The spook began the bed tappings in December. Later it grew so bold as to tickle the feet of the couple. By the end of February it was correctly answering such questions as "Is the baby asleep?"

Wire Trap Fails.

Once last week Lucas strung a copper wire from the bedspring to a gas pipe in the kitchen, just to see what would happen. The device quieted Mr. Tap and Thump for one night. The next night he was back again.

Amateur ghost hunters have found the spook accommodating as well as agile in producing taps and thumps anywhere on the bed. The police tried everything but the lie detector. Still the case is unsolved.

Then last night Dr. William H. Mikesell, psychologist and author, tried his hand.

The mysterious "it" thumped the bed at Dr. Mikesell's commands. He asked "it" to rap on one side of the bed. "It" obeyed. He asked "it" to rap so many times in another place on the bed. "It" did.

He Feels Something.

"I could feel several of the thumps near my hand on the bed," Dr. Mikesell reported.

Seven witnesses, including a detective, also heard "it's" responses.

When asked to tap on some other piece of furniture in the room, "it" just sulked.

After two hours, Dr. Mikesell bade "it" goodnight and left, expressing a desire to return with fewer persons present. Under such conditions, he said, "a more conclusive demonstration may be possible."

British Artists in Protected Areas Must Obtain Permits

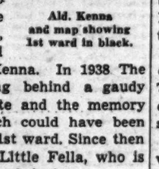
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—Only official artists are allowed in protected war areas to depict any phase of the war which might convey information to the enemy, W. R. M. Lamb, secretary of the Royal academy, said tonight. Artists desiring to paint subjects in the protected areas must obtain a permit from government authorities. The protected areas include the whole of Scotland and the adjoining islands north of the Caledonian canal.

KING HINKY DINK HOLDS COURT AT 1ST WARD RALLY

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

Chicago's famed 1st ward embraces Michigan avenue's swank hotels and the Wabash avenue flophouses in their shadow. It includes the famous State street shopping district and the equally infamous honky-tonks, penny arcades, and burlesque houses of South State street. It has voters with a million dollars and voters without the price of a cup of coffee.



Ald. Kenna and map showing 1st ward in black.

This fantastic realm was ruled for more than 40 years by two men: John [The Bath] Coughlin, and Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna. In 1938 The Bath died, leaving behind a gaudy legacy of anecdote and the memory of a career which could have been lived only in the 1st ward. Since then Hinky Dink, the Little Fella, who is 81 years old, has ruled alone.

Hinky Dink Recovers.

Last December Kenna himself became ill. For more than two months his henchmen feared that he would never again return to his seat in the city council. Yesterday, for the second time since his illness, he was present at a meeting of his ward organization.

There were only about 50 men in the South State street ward headquarters at 2 p. m. when the meeting was supposed to start.

Men straggled in. Some wore caps, some derbies, some had big cigars, and some chiseled big cigars as quickly as possible. All seemed to be waiting. By this time all seats were taken and about a hundred men were standing along the wall.

"HE was here last Sunday," one said. "You'll know it when HE gets here."

Here Comes the King!

The musicians played "Easter Parade." They played very loudly. At 2:45 there was a stir near the door. A voice cried: "One side! One side!" The musicians swung into "East Side, West Side," every one clapped, and Hinky Dink, looking pale and very little, made his way slowly down the long aisle.

He shook hands with some of his courtiers, nodded listlessly to others. At last he sat down at a table in front, his chair immediately behind a bottle of mineral water and a pile of campaign printed matter. A man identified as Joe Clark sat on his right, taking the table microphone as he did so.

Kenna just sat and stared into space, apparently not seeing the crowd at all. His eyes were far away behind his glasses, and the famous Kenna cigar trembled between his teeth or shook with his fingers when he removed it to spit, deftly, on the floor.

Jake Arvey Gets a Hand.

The only arrival besides Kenna who seemed to impress the audience was Ald. Jake Arvey of the 24th ward, his face wreathed in a wide smile. He got a hand from the crowd and a warmer than usual welcome from Kenna.

Finally Joe cleared his throat.

He began introducing the speakers, beginning with Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell. Kenna, still wearing his overcoat and brown hat, smiled only once. That was when Municipal Judge Joseph J. Drucker said that he wouldn't say anything more about his judicial record than that he was the father of a 10 months' old son and, if reëlected, "will carry on the good work."

Victor Schlaeger Speaks.

Victor L. Schlaeger, seeking reëlection as clerk of the Superior court, reminded the audience that when he campaigned for his present office four years ago he promised to be loyal to the party.

"I promised I would take only one job," he said, "and I have. There is no one working in my office who does not have the approval of the regular Democratic ward committeemen."

"The next speaker," Joe said, "is vice chairman of the county central committee and a regular human dynamo . . . Ald. Arvey."

Arvey's smile widened. He opened with a request for backing for the Municipal judges who had spoken.

"You know," he said, "there's no one in a position to do the party more good than they are on that bench. They can win friends by their courtesy, tact, and justice."

Arvey then paid a tribute to Kenna, saying:

GREEN, BROOKS HOLD LEADS IN TRIBUNE POLL

G.O.P. Ballots in City Are Tabulated.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The results of 2,601 more Republican straw ballots cast by Chicagoans in The Tribune's straw vote being taken among Republican and Democratic voters are given today. The ballots tabulated today were gathered Saturday at 55 widely scattered street corners. Results of the Democratic poll taken at the same spots will be published tomorrow. THE TRIBUNE is taking the poll to test sentiment preliminary to the April 9 primaries thruout the state.

With yesterday's published batch of straws, the tables now include 7,582 Republican votes taken in Chicago. They were gathered at 135 street corners.

All who case straw ballots did not vote for a candidate for every office which the poll embraces. Of the 7,582 who have cast Republican ballots so far in Chicago, 7,256 indicated their preference for Thomas E. Dewey [unopposed] for President, 7,357 cast ballots for governor, 7,040 for United States senator, and 6,920 for Cook county state's attorney.

Percentages Are Fluctuating.

| | TODAY'S TABLE. | | TOTAL TO DATE. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Votes. | Pct. | Votes. | Pct. |
| Governor— | | | | |
| Green | 1,546 | 62.95 | 4,464 | 60.68 |
| Lyons | 910 | 37.05 | 2,893 | 39.32 |
| U. S. Senator— | | | | |
| Brooks | 1,543 | 65.44 | 4,575 | 64.99 |
| Church | 815 | 34.56 | 2,465 | 35.01 |
| State's Attorney— | | | | |
| Nelson | 1,323 | 58.64 | 4,236 | 61.13 |
| Ditchburne | 807 | 35.77 | 2,268 | 32.77 |
| Cowen | 126 | 5.59 | 422 | 6.10 |

Green Leading Lyons.

The figures compiled in the first two days of the ballot casting show Lwight H. Green leading Richard J. Lyons in Chicago for the nomination for governor. The results of the combined tables [7,582 Chicago straws] give Green 60.68 per cent, Lyons 39.32 per cent.

Politicians yesterday theorized Green strength owes considerable to the vote fraud scandals into which County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and the grand jury have been delving. The election frauds concerned the mayoral election last year in which Green was Republican nominee against Mayor Edward J. Kelly. For months it has been conceded one result has been to build up Green sentiment. This also is regarded as true of downstate regions. During the mayoral campaign a year ago, too, Green was much in the public eye in his attacks on the Democratic machine. All this comparatively recent publicity, politicians aver, has served to enhance his support, especially in view of the Democratic scandals at Springfield.

Lyons an Aggressive Fighter.

Lyons, too, has been a most aggressive battler against the Democratic machine. Two years ago he was Republican nominee for United States senator against Senator Scott W. Lucas, Democrat. Lyons, in that election, carried downstate Illinois by 108,193 and the country towns of Cook county by 51,492, and was defeated by the 255,277 plurality rolled up by the Democrats for Lucas in Chicago.

Lyons, as well as Green, has been played up during the campaign as a victim of the Democratic machine, and also as the Republican who made the first big dent in the machine two years ago. Downstate, in seven cities which were in yesterday's poll, Lyons was running ahead in Kankakee, Aurora, and East St. Louis. Green was leading in Joliet, Peoria, Lincoln, and Mount Pulaski. Of the 1,673 straws from the seven towns, Green had 52 per cent.

Brooks Leading Church.

On the United States senatorship, Wayland Brooks is leading Congressman Ralph E. Church of Evanston in the Republican straws of the first two days. Church has been kept in Washington by congress, and during the campaign has made some week-end trips to the fighting ground by plane. Otherwise his is a long distance radio campaign. The early poll gives Brooks about 65 per cent of the straw ballots so far tabulated in Chicago, and Church about 35 per cent.

On the state's attorneyship the early straw results give a lead to Judge Oscar F. Nelson over Harry S. Ditchburne and Erwin E. Cowen. Of the 7,582 Republican ballots now in the tables, Nelson has 61 per cent; Ditchburne, 33 per cent, and Cowen, 6 per cent.

The strength displayed by Dewey continued as one of the most interesting phases of the poll. Altho he is without opposition in the Republican preference primary, the New York gang-busting candidate for the Republican presidential nomination got 2,381 votes in the poll given today. He got more votes than were cast for both candidates for senator or for all three for state's attorney. Without a contest, Dewey got 7,256 votes on the 7,582 Republican straws now compiled for Chicago, the rest being unmarked save for a dozen written in for Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan or Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who are not in the Illinois primaries.

Returns from Tribune Primary Poll

Below are additional Chicago tabulations in the Republican column of the straw vote being taken by THE TRIBUNE on the principal candidates in the Illinois primaries of April 9. Besides the presidential preference test, the candidates being canvassed are those for governor, United States senator, and state's attorney of Cook county. Additional tabulation of Chicagoans' votes for Democratic candidates will be printed tomorrow.

DITCHBURNE HITS NEW DEAL

Harry S. Ditchburne, candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, supplied the only speech of the Republican campaign here yesterday. He divided his ammunition against the national Democratic administration and what he termed disgraceful conditions at home.

Dwight H. Green and Richard J. Lyons, rival candidates for the G. O. P. nomination for governor, and Wayland Brooks and Congressman Ralph E. Church, seeking the party's nomination for United States senator, were united in a program of planning a welcome for Thomas E. Dewey, New York City's famous prosecutor, who will speak here Thursday in his campaign for the Republican nomination for President.

All Confident of Victory.

Others of the state and county candidates contented themselves with issuing statements. All Republicans are campaigning strenuously in the belief that election is certain in November for those nominated April 9.

"This year affords a glorious opportunity for the rescue of our county, state, and nation from the fallacies of the New Deal," Ditchburne said in a radio speech. "Prospects are bright for the success of the Republican party in November. But this will come only thru the exercise of good common horse sense by the leaders and members of our party. The New Deal must be beaten."

Ditchburne attacked organized crime—"rackets, gangs, syndicated and protected vice and gambling thrive and prosper," he said—and pledged if elected to wipe out these evils and separate politics from law enforcement and crime.

Green Announces 3 Meetings.

Green's headquarters announced a series of women's meetings in his behalf today. One is before the Women's Republican club of New Trier township at 3 p. m., another is in his La Salle hotel headquarters in the early evening, and another is a mass meeting in the Leyden High school in Franklin Park at 10 p. m.

Brooks and Lyons scheduled three ward meetings for the evening and Brooks alone is to appear before the League of Women Voters in Maywood at the First Congregational church at 6:30 p. m. The ward meetings scheduled are: 46th ward, Belmont hall, Belmont avenue and Clark street; 35th, 38th, and 41st wards, a joint mass meeting at Portage Park school, Lockwood and Berteau avenues; 31st, 32d, 33d, and 34th wards, combined meeting at Wicker Park hall, Milwaukee, Damen, and North avenues.

The Lyons headquarters announced that Mrs. Richard J. Lyons, wife of the candidate, will visit several downstate cities this week.

Church Returns to Capital.

Congressman Church spent the week-end in Chicago, then returned to Washington to maintain his record of never having missed a session of congress. He said he is well satisfied with the progress of his campaign altho he is able to spend only brief periods here.

George S. Lavin, Republican candidate for nomination for congress at large, issued a statement saying there is a surplus of federal laws, and pledging that he will, if elected, seek to solve the problem of putting millions of men back to work.

Chicago's former postmaster, Arthur C. Lueder, a candidate for state auditor, in a statement dwelt on the splendid record attributed to him as postmaster, and he promised the same kind of administration as auditor.

William R. McCauley of Olney, another candidate for state auditor, announced that State Representative Michael Ruddy had accepted appointment as Chicago manager of the McCauley campaign. McCauley said he also has the support of the Republican Victory committee, an organization of ex-service men.

Charles W. Hadley, seeking the nomination for attorney general, dwelt on what he called the necessity of ousting the present tax wasters from the state administration.

FINDS PARKING SPACE GONE; DOES SOMETHING ABOUT IT; GOES TO JAIL

Since Oak Park began enforcing its ordinance against night parking on the streets last November, residents in the neighborhood of Emerson school at Washington boulevard and Kenilworth avenue have been parking on the school grounds.

H. E. Foley of 338 South Kenilworth avenue came home at 3:30 a. m. yesterday. He drove over to his favorite parking spot on the school grounds. He found another car occupying it.

Before Policemen Lawrence Hoffman and Walker Ijams arrived in response to a dozen telephone calls from neighbors who heard the racket, Foley had hammered out all the windows in the other car, ripped the tires, put dents in the fenders, and scratched the enamel, pulled out the seat cushions, and torn off the license plates and cast them away.

Last evening Foley was finishing up his Easter in a cell, still waiting for somebody to make $100 bond on charges of disorderly conduct and intoxication. And William Weissfuss, 336 South Kenilworth avenue, owner of the car on which Foley vented his fury, was thinking sadly about the wreckage.

Urgent Call Sent Danish Assembly for Meeting

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 24.—The two government parties, the Social Democrats and Liberals, were suddenly called by radio this afternoon from their Easter vacation for party meetings fixed for tomorrow. At the same time the radio recalled the entire assembly for an extraordinary session on Tuesday. Summoning of the two chambers is held to indicate that extraordinary resolutions will be passed.

COLLAPSES IN STREET, DIES.

STRICKEN 2 YEARS AGO TODAY, GIRL, 4, STILL IN COMA

Today is the second anniversary of the day that little Mary Ellen Reardon slipped into a strange, restless coma—a victim of the dread disease encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness.

Mary Ellen, a golden haired child now 4 years old, was stricken on March 25, 1938, following an attack of measles. Yesterday her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Reardon of 3132 76th avenue, Elmwood Park, where Mary Ellen lies, said they have not abandoned hope that she will recover, altho she is still oblivious of her surroundings.

Little change has been reported in Mary Ellen's condition. She can move her arms, legs, and head, but she recognizes neither persons nor any of her many dolls. She is fed baby foods and soft cereals.

CREDITERS GAIN TWO MORE SEATS IN ALBERTA POLL

EDMONTON, Alta., March 24 (AP).—The verdict of Alberta voters in the provincial election still was undecided tonight—three days after they finished balloting.

Election of two Social Crediters and one independent today brought the standing to 20 Social Crediters and 14 independents. Leading in the remaining 23 seats were 17 supporters of Premier Aberhart, five independents, and one Laborite.

The premier and four of his cabinet ministers were reelected but second counts are necessary in two of the areas where members of the Social Credit government are running.

TO MRS. LYONS APRIL MEANS IT IS GARDEN TIME

She Loves Flowers and Her Home.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Every time Mrs. Richard J. Lyons lifts her eyes in the living room of the Lyons' white stucco home in Libertyville she sees an immobile row of ivory elephants marching across her mantel. Every time she walks into her husband's study she sees two red wooden elephants rearing over the windows.

She really sees them. They are really there. She also dusts them. But right there her political activity, even tho it be only emblematical, ends. She makes two concessions to her husband's campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. She opens some 300 letters a day, those which come to the home, and she keeps an ear cocked for the telephone.

Phone Plays Big Rôle.

The telephone has played a big part in her life the last 24 years. She was brown eyed Blanche Mitchell, secretary in the telephone company office at Waukegan back in 1915 when Dick Lyons, blue eyed, thin and rather gawky, went to Lake Forest as telegrapher. Telegrams went on telephone bills, the toll reported to the secretary by the telegrapher. The result was that which the telegraph companies capitalize on when St. Valentine's day comes—romance.

"We really met on the telephone just doing business," she says, "and," wryly, "that's the way I meet him now. The phone rings and I run. His voice comes, 'Do you remember me? This is your husband?'"

After 10 years of political home life, beginning when her husband first ran for the state legislature, she is used to it. She never knows where her campaigning husband will be, but she's always ready to join him "if urgent." "I keep myself ready at all times," she says merrily, "so that if he calls I can slip on a dress and run to him."

Denies She's Diplomat.

People call Mrs. Lyons the family diplomat, but she denies it. She is happy she is no politician. She has never made a political speech, hears them only when necessary, and doesn't even belong to a political club or any club except a bridge foursome. "Dick is away so much," she apologizes, "that when he is here I want my time to be his, not my club's."

She is 5 feet 3, and slender, with shining gray hair brushed back in a sleek bob. She wears tailored clothes in black, gray, or red, and is happy if she can find "something for $1 to wear around my neck." She strides when she walks and has a hearty briskness to her speech. Her age is the same as that of her husband, 44.

She was born just six miles from where she now lives on the farm near Prairie View in Lake county, which her father, Samuel Mitchell, came to with his family as a child of 3 and still, at the age of 84, owns. When she and Mr. Lyons were married they moved to Area [now Mundelein] and ran a grocery. Later he went into the real estate boom there, but left it in 1929 when the boom also left.

Essentially she is a homemaker. "I enjoy my home," she says. "I like to be in it, and to have people in it." She doesn't sew—she says she hasn't the necessary patience—but she loves to cook. She admits disgruntedly that her husband compliments her on her fried chicken, which, she contends, is no compliment, "as any one can fry chicken."

She spends a good many hours laughing at herself or with her children, Lucille, who is 22 and works in the Abbott laboratories in North Chicago, and Richard Earl, who at 16 is always black with grease from his model airplanes or the 1929 Chevrolet he and two other boys bought for $5. Both children have their mother's brown eyes.

Right now she is in a hurry for April to come. Not because it marks the end of the primary campaign but because she wants to work in her garden again. She can't begin to name the flowers she grows on their acre lot. "I just like a lot of them," she says. "I like to grow them. I'm a country girl, you know."

She likes her home, and is in it most of the time, but for 10 years its activity has been set at campaign pace. Very staccato. Her daughter, Lucille, clocked their dinner the other night. "Seven minutes flat, complete with dessert," she announced proudly.

Accidents Due to Indiana Storm Put 19 in Hospitals

Plymouth, Ind., March 24 [Special].—Nineteen persons were admitted to hospitals in Plymouth and Argos this afternoon as a blinding snow storm coated highways five inches deep, causing a dozen accidents. Four victims were hurt seriously, including Mrs. B. A. Price of La Porte and William T. Hamilton. Both incurred skull fractures.

ATTEMPT TO KILL VICE CRUSADER IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., March 24 (AP).—The Rev. Henry J. Soltau, Minneapolis secretary of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league, who has been active in investigation of vice conditions here, reported to police that three shots had been fired at him tonight.

Mr. Soltau said he had just placed his automobile in his garage and was leaving it when he saw an automobile speeding down the alley. Suspicious, he started to run, and just as he turned a corner, three shots were fired, he said. Police could find no trace of the automobile or its occupants.

As a result of Mr. Soltau's campaign against vice here, several alleged disorderly house operators have been indicted and three police officers have been charged with neglect of duty or bribery.

STOCK OF G. O. P. ZOOMS AS TEST PRIMARIES NEAR

3d Term Issue Squabble Hurts Democrats.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—With the Democratic pot boiling over with dissension on the third term, Republican stock is zooming. And as the chances of Republican success in the 1940 elections improve, the contest for the Republican nomination for President is becoming more intense.

Thomas E. Dewey. [Top.] A. H. Vandenberg. [Center.] Robert A. Taft. [Bottom.]

Hitherto that contest has been a sort of love feast of the three leading contenders — Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York. They have been photographed embracing each other and they have delivered public addresses not greatly differing from each other in their indictment of the New Deal.

Cite New Deal Failure.

In multifarious ways they have stressed the failures of the New Deal, summed up in 10 million persons still unemployed after seven years of the planned economy and a 22 billion dollar increase in the public debt.

They have imputed to the confidence destroying policies of the Roosevelt administration the failure of our economic system to revive despite the demands for expansion and renewal of plant in the railroads, the utilities, housing, and other industries and the availability of a huge reservoir of investment capital.

They have called for an end of socialistic experimentation and a rededication of the nation to the protection and development of private enterprise.

This week, however, comes the parting of the ways. The Republican candidates are billed to present to the voters their rival claims for favor. The immediate audience is the electorate of Wisconsin in which the primaries for the election of delegates to the national convention of each party will be held a week from next Tuesday.

Vandenberg to Speak.

Senator Vandenberg will lead off with a national broadcast tomorrow night on "the controling issues in the 1940 election." It will be the senator's only address to the voters before the Wisconsin primary. Last week he declined invitations to go to Wisconsin to make one or more speeches, explaining that he cannot absent himself from the senate at this time and pointing out that he is running on his record in the senate, a record that speaks for itself.

Mr. Dewey, who is the sole opponent of Senator Vandenberg in the Wisconsin primary, will present his case in a two day stump speaking tour of the state next Friday and Saturday. He is billed for a speech in Milwaukee Friday night and altogether is to make a score of talks in the state in the two days.

Altho neither is likely to attack the other in any overt manner it is not doubted that each of the two candidates will endeavor to convey to the Republican electorate valid reasons for preferring him to his rival for the next four years in the White House.

Await Wisconsin Outcome.

If either Vandenberg or Dewey should win the Wisconsin primary by a substantial margin his chances of the nomination would receive a tremendous impetus and his rival would suffer a corresponding setback. The outcome in Wisconsin might conceivably influence decisively the result in the Nebraska primary a week later in which Vandenberg and Dewey again are the sole contenders for the Republican nomination.

In the Illinois primary on April 9 Mr. Dewey has no opposition, both Vandenberg and Taft having refrained from entering that contest. Mr. Dewey will win the presidential preference vote by default. The only measure of his popularity will be the percentage of the total vote in the Republican primary he receives. In St. Louis next Wednesday and in Chicago on Thursday Mr. Dewey will make speeches intended especially for the ears of Illinois voters.

To Postmaster General James A. Farley the Republicans are indebted for the increased Democratic dissension over President Roosevelt's third term ambitions. Mr. Farley served public notice of a break with the President on the third term issue when he announced at Springfield, Mass., that his name will be presented to the Democratic national convention as a candidate for the nomination for President.

Farley Sure of Votes.

Delegates for Farley will be chosen in Massachusetts and other states. So, the postmaster general's announcement means that there will be votes for Farley on the first ballot even if there is a majority of votes for Roosevelt.

Altogether the prospect of Democratic harmony in the election is anything but promising. Opposing the President are both Vice President Garner and Mr. Farley, a member of the President's cabinet and chairman of the Democratic national committee. How long Mr. Farley can retain these positions in view of his own candidacy and the candidacies of Mr. Roosevelt and others is a matter of animated speculation among the politicians.

FREE ENVOY'S SON AFTER HE'S SEIZED ON BRIDGE RAILING

Henry Seth Wilson IV., 20 years old, was released by police early today after he had been held nearly 24 hours after being seized by passers-by while climbing upon a railing of the Madison street bridge early yesterday. He is a son of Edwin Carleton Wilson, United States minister to Uruguay.

Henry S. Wilson IV.

Young Wilson told police he had been drinking and was depressed because he was unable to plan his future as he wished.

On his promise to return to Bucknell university in Lewisburg, Pa., where he is a student, he was released without charge by Lieut. Bernard Corcoran. Wilson had been on an Easter visit to the home of a young woman at Adams, Wis.

BRIDEGROOM HAS BOTH HIS BRIDE AND PANTS BACK

Properly accoutred in a pair of pants, Erick Swanson apparently resumed his honeymoon yesterday. Swanson, 40 years old, a carpenter of Fox Lake in Lake county, was the man found minus his pants March 15 in a car parked in Grant park. He told police he had been left there 30 hours before, and that his wife had taken the pants.

Swanson said he had eloped to St. Louis, Mo., with a Mrs. Ellen Welch, 39, a divorcée, and that all went well until they reached Chicago on the return trip. Then, he said, his bride thought he might desert her, so she had taken his pants and left him in the car with instructions to await her return. Police gave him a set of spares and he went on home.

Yesterday a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Ella Appleton Wells, of Fox Lake, but admitted she was Swanson's bride, claimed the car at a garage where it had been stored by police. An attendant said that from newspaper pictures he recognized the man with her as Swanson. So, apparently, all's well that ends well.

BRITISH WORRIED OVER AMERICAN OPINIONS ON WAR

LONDON, March 24 (AP).—Britain showed mounting concern over what the United States thinks about the war which today was keeping up a steady pace of isolated air and sea engagements.

"Hitler thinks he can fool the United States by talking peace and good will," "Goebbels gulls America," and "Britain losing war of words: Goebbels' lies sweep America" were some of the headlines with which the Sunday press showed growing interest in America's reaction to war incidents.

Among the editorials and articles on American opinions was one in the Sunday Chronicle recalling that in the last war "at this stage" America "changed its tune from 'I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier' to 'The Yanks Are Coming.' The editorial observed:

"That may not happen again. If it does, American help will be as welcome as it would be valuable."

Youth Accidentally Slain by Target Practice Bullet

Pisgah, Ia., March 24 (AP).—An Easter day target shooting had a tragic end late today when Clayton Hester, 19 years old, died after being struck accidentally in the head with a bullet from a rifle on a farm six miles east of Pisgah. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hester, farmers near here. Sheriff C. A. Bullis and Coroner K. A. Barrett reported that Hester walked in front of a gun held by his cousin, Daniel McHugh, 15. Bullis and Barrett said no inquest will be held.

FATHER OF SEVEN KILLS SELF.

Jacob Albores, 55 years old, shot and killed himself last night in the presence of his wife, Helen, in their home at 9040 Burley avenue. His seven children were sleeping at the time. Police said that Albores, a Mexican, had been despondent over threatened blindness.

CROSS CHARGES EFFORT TO HUSH LYN SMITH QUIZ

Declares Democrats Fear to Reveal Facts.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 24.—An attempt to hush inquiries into the strange death of F. Lynden Smith, state public works director, and into the Democratic slush fund collected from state employés by Gov. Henry Horner's political machine, was charged here today by Hugh W. Cross, Republican speaker of the Illinois house of representatives. Cross is a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

The charge was made on the eve of a showdown on the slush fund litigation scheduled for Tuesday before Judge L. E. Stone of the Sangamon county Circuit court, and on the eve of an inquest into the mysterious death of Horner's former campaign manager.

Cites Washington Trip.

In his statement, released from his headquarters here, Cross drew attention to a visit to Washington, D. C., this week-end by Attorney General John Cassidy. The attorney general is expected to return here tomorrow and to report what his inheritance department found in a vault of Smith's lumber company in Pontiac last week.

"I wonder why Mr. Cassidy made his hurried trip to Washington?" the speaker's statement asked.

"The eyes of the nation are focused on Illinois, a pivotal state in the 1940 election, and I for one believe that an honest probe into Smith's death will result in political scandals of greater magnitude than those of New York, Kansas City, or Louisiana.

"What are the Democratic state police doing in this investigation? What is the Democratic attorney general doing? What is the Democratic state's attorney of Sangamon county doing? The Democrats are afraid to lift the lid on this case."

Accuses Other Democrats.

The slush fund litigation is a suit for accounting brought in the name of a state policeman against eight Horner appointees headed by Director of Finance Samuel L. Nudelman. Smith was a ninth defendant. A temporary injunction has tied up an estimated $200,000 campaign kitty collected by assessing 2 per cent of the salaries of state employés. A motion by the defense to dismiss the suit is set for Tuesday.

"We've heard a lot about Horner's slush fund," the Cross statement continued. "It's time the shakedown of their employés by other state officials should also be exposed.

"Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, State Auditor Barrett, State Treasurer Louie Lewis, Secretary of State Hughes, Congressman John Martin, and Superintendent of Instruction John Wieland are all guilty of collecting money from their employés.

"Stelle did it when he was treasurer. So did Martin when he was treasurer. Louie Lewis, Hughes, and Barrett are doing it today. The suit for accounting mentions only the Horner offices."

WAR HITS ENGLAND'S SCHOOLS FOR RICH; ONE LOCKS ITS DOORS

LONDON, March 24 (AP).—The war took its first toll of England's public schools—private fee supported schools where well-to-do families sent their boys—with the closing of 77 year old Weymouth college today.

The bishop of Salisbury, Dr. E. N. Lovett, in the school's swan song voiced the fear that other public schools will "share the same fate." A steady fall in enrollment indicated British parents, facing mounting war taxes and living expenses, are unable to meet Weymouth's fees, $500 yearly in college and $440 in the junior school.

[England's equivalent of the American public school is called the day school.]

NAZI LEAFLETS RAIN ON FRONT; SEE PEACE DRIVE

French Are Bombarded by Loudspeakers, Too.

PARIS, March 24 (AP).—A vigorous German propaganda drive was opened along the Rhine today, the French high command reported. Planes dropped propaganda tracts on the French lines and loud speakers boomed messages across the river. The French believed this might herald a German peace offensive.

German-Netherlands border, over which warplanes flew.

West of the Vosges mountains French artillery was said to have dispersed a group of German workmen. Otherwise, stated the British-French communiques of both morning and evening, there was nothing of importance to report.

Nazis Down British Plane.

BERLIN, March 24 (AP).—Germany's high command charged today that British-French warplanes violated Netherlands territory eight times last night and early today in scouting flights over Germany. German anti-aircraft guns shot down one invader.

The communique follows:

"The air force carried out reconnaissance flights over eastern France despite very unfavorable weather.

"During the night numerous enemy airplanes flew into northwest Germany and into the section of the Moselle-Rhine. One Vickers Wellington [British] long distance airplane was shot down by antiaircraft guns.

"On the return flights the enemy violated Netherlands territory in eight instances between the hours of 10:45 p. m. and 2:45 a. m."

Loss of Craft Admitted.

[A British communique said the 23d aircraft of the royal flying force scouted northwest Germany on Saturday night and that one plane failed to return.]

German soldiers on the western front relaxed for Easter Sunday. Many received furloughs, and those remaining at the front got extra rations of beer and wine. Field kitchens baked cookies and cakes from an extra allotment of one pound of flour a man. Sports, contests, and festivals were held and there were cabaret and movie shows.

Grandson of Henry Ford Plans to Become Catholic

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—Henry Ford II., 23 year old son of Edsel B. Ford and grandson of Henry Ford, founder of the Ford Motor company, is receiving instruction preparatory to becoming a Roman Catholic. This was confirmed today after the Ford heir attended the solemn high mass at St. Patrick's cathedral. He occupied a seat in the first row center. Sitting with him was his fiancée, Miss Anne McDonnell of 5th avenue.

Britain May Revise Cabinet to Take In Labor Members

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—The British cabinet probably will be shaken up to make room for Labor party representation, discussion in the British press indicated today.

The Daily Telegraph, after suggesting that such a revision was likely, named Arthur Greenwood, Herbert Morrison, A. V. Alexander, and Clement Attlee, all prominent Labor party men, as prospective members of the cabinet. Attlee, however, is believed reticent to enter the cabinet because such a move would deprive him of his privilege of criticizing the government.

Minister of Defense.

Should the shakeup occur, Winston Churchill, now first lord of the admiralty, may become minister of defense and thus gain supreme control of Britain's air, land, and sea forces.

Discussion of the proposed cabinet changes was taken as an indication of the government's desire to check the growing expressions of discontent among the labor groups over the rising cost of living and the stationary character of wages.

Four such expressions were made today, despite the advice of Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, that wage earners must not attempt to make earnings keep pace with increasing prices. To do this, Simon warned, would be to create an inflationary movement jeopardizing the nation's wartime financial program.

Call War "Imperialistic."

The Independent Labor party, in a meeting at Nottingham, condemned the war as "imperialistic," voiced concern at the rising cost of living without commensurate increases in wages, and disavowed any obligation not to enter into parliamentary elections.

The Coöperative party conference skipped condemnation of the war as imperialistic, but it, too, denied it was participating in any political truce. The conference likewise said it was concerned over the rise in prices.

Conferences of the National Amalgamated Union of Shop Assistants, Warehousemen, and Clerks of Birmingham, and the National Union of Clerks and Administrative Workers at Leeds passed resolutions expressing disagreement with the government contention that wages could not be expected to match increasing costs. The conferences characterized the government's position as an attempt to make the working classes pay the cost of the war while big manufacturers piled up immense profits.

ANTIWAR SHOUT HALTS AIR PRAYER FOR BRITISH ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—A shrill voice tonight interrupted a prayer offered by Canon Cockin at the conclusion of a service broadcast from St. Paul's cathedral. "Pray for peace; halt the war" was distinctly heard over the radio as the canon was praying for the armed forces and "those who conduct the war." Cockin continued the prayer as the man was quietly escorted from the cathedral by an usher. A similar interruption occurred last Sunday at St. Martin's church in London.

WAGNER MUSIC JARS HARMONY OF PARIS PRESS

Hitler's Composer-Hero Assailed, Defended.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 24.—Should Richard Wagner's music be played in France during the war? A fierce controversy over this question has been raging in the French press ever since the Paris Colonne orchestra some weeks ago tried to play pieces from "Tristan" and "Siegfried," causing a near fist fight in the concert hall between opponents and defenders of the German master.

Since the beginning of the war the Paris grand opera house has banished Wagner from its programs and French radio stations, which formerly featured selections from his operas, have followed suit.

Hitler's Favorite Composer.

The reason for this ostracism is that Wagner is Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's favorite composer. "Wagner was pan-German," say his foes, "and if he were alive today he would be a Nazi. Wagner's Ring of Nibelungen symbolizes immorality and the exaltation of force that characterizes Hitlerism. Hitler himself regards himself as a Wagnerian hero, another Parsifal guarding the Holy Grail in the mountains of Berchtesgaden. He dreams that he is a new Lohengrin, who has delivered Elsa from the bonds of the treaty of Versailles."

In reply, the advocates of allowing Wagner to be played despite the war declare that Parsifal was not German, but a Frenchman, and that the Holy Grail has nothing to do with Germany.

Ask About Russia's Composers.

They deny that there is anything immoral or Nazi in the "Ring" and recall that at Gen. Charles Mangin's funeral military bands played a funeral march from "Siegfried."

"As for Hitler's being a Wagnerian," they argue, "he is just as partial to Franz Lehar's operettas. Besides, if politics are to dictate the Frenchman's musical taste, why have not Rimsky-Korsakoff, Alexander Borodin, and Modeste Moussorgsky been banned following soviet Russia's betrayal of the allied cause?"

POPE WARNS WAR WILL END WITH RUIN OF NATIONS

Pleads for Peace Before It Is Too Late.

VATICAN CITY, March 24 (AP).—Pope Pius implored for "peace, concord, and unity" among nations today in an Easter homily in which he advocated settlement of their relations "not by force, but by rules of truth, justice, and charity."

Pope Pius XII.

The words of the pontiff, who spoke from the throne briefly in Latin immediately after celebrating Easter mass in the basilica of St. Peter, were broadcast by the Vatican radio and rebroadcast to the United States.

The pope expressed fear that the European war would bring more frightful sufferings, with ruin for nations. The pontiff, declaring that treaties had been violated, also deplored violations of international law which he said had taken place in bombardment of open cities and civilian populations.

Saddened by Poles' Fate.

He said mankind was turning its inventive genius to the use of "slaughter and ruin." He named no countries in deploring violations of treaties and international law but in Vatican circles it was said that he has been saddened by the suffering of Poles and Fians under German and Russian attacks.

Only by returning to Christian principles, he said, could peoples eventually get together in understanding and friendship.

Altho Pius XII. had celebrated Easter masses in St. Peter's when he was an archpriest of the church, today was the first time he had celebrated the sacrament there as pope. Last year he watched from the throne as Cardinal Tedeschini led the Easter rites commemorating the resurrection of the Prince of Peace.

Appears on Balcony.

After the mass and the homily the pontiff appeared on a balcony and, with a large crowd assembled below, bestowed his blessing "Urbe et orbe"—"to the city and the world."

In his homily the pope urged a "spiritual renewal in Christ," adding:

"This work of reform is not called for alone for private welfare and individual life, but also for the very salvation of human society, and therefore, particularly [this is so] at this time, so critical when sad things appear to the eyes of all and still more frightful things are feared for the future.

"Trade Hampered by Snares."

"Peaceful trade, hampered by snares of all kinds, is languishing and as a consequence some classes of citizens, especially those less well off, are suffering distress. And moreover—what is worse—while minds are dimmed by hatred and jealousy, in many places already the land, the sea and even the sky, the sublime image of the everlasting homeland, are spotted by the blood of brothers.

"For such grave ills can some other remedy be hoped for than that which comes from Christ, His spirit and His doctrine, which must permeate the very essence of civilized society? Only Christ, with His law and His grace, can renew and restore private as well as public customs, reestablish a just relationship between right and duty, put a brake on immoderate desire for conquest, repress passions and temper and perfect a rigid and cool justice with the breath of charity.

No Arrangement by Force.

"He who could give orders to winds and storms and calm restless billows, He alone can equally bend the will of men toward concord and brotherly love and make it so that—with relations between peoples happily and freely arranged, not by force but according to rules of truth, justice, and charity—swords are lowered and hands having laid down their arms finally meet in a sign of understanding and friendship."

Despite the shadow of war, on the surface the ceremonies today were observed with more than usual pomp.

FIRST CHURCH RITES SENT BY TELEVISION GO TO MOUNTAIN TOP

Lake Placid, N. Y., March 24 (AP).—An Easter service reached the top of Whiteface mountain, third highest peak in the Adirondacks, by sight and sound today when three weather observers, snowbound since January, "went to church" by television.

The services were conducted by Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and a mass celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen of Catholic university. They were the first religious services ever transmitted by television.

The telecast came from the television studios of the National Broadcasting company in New York City thru General Electric's new television relay station near Schenectady, N. Y. Total airline distance of the telecast was about 250 miles.

PHYSICIAN KEEPS PRESIDENT FROM EASTER SERVICES

Washington, D. C., March 24 (AP).—President Roosevelt heeded the advice of his physician today and remained away from Easter church services, but Mrs. Roosevelt joined thousands of early rising worshipers in a sunrise ceremony at nearby Arlington [Va.] cemetery.

A cold wave sent the temperature down to 19 early today and Dr. Ross T. McIntire thought it unwise for Mr. Roosevelt, who has been suffering from a cold, to venture out.

If the weather continues cold tomorrow, and the forecasters say it will, Dr. McIntire said he would prefer that Mr. Roosevelt remain indoors another day. That would prevent him greeting the thousands of children and parents expected to take part in the annual egg rolling on the White House lawn.

Mrs. Roosevelt laid a cross of lilies on the tomb of the unknown soldier during the Arlington services, which are sponsored annually by the order of Knights Templar. Gov. James H. Price of Virginia was among the 3,000 attending the services.

DR. BROOKSHIR DIES AT 62.

Georgetown, Ill., March 24 [Special].—Funeral services will be held Monday for Dr. Martin L. Brookshir, 62, a physician here for 21 years, who died Friday. He was a graduate of Barnes medical college in St. Louis and a member of American Medical association. The widow and seven children survive.

Workman Bounces 92 Feet Down Slope of Dam; Unhurt

SUBDUED CROWDS THRONG PARIS ON WARTIME EASTER

Women's Styles Reflect Sober Mood.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 24.—Almost as numerous but more subdued than in peace years, Paris throngs celebrated their first wartime Easter with special church ceremonies, country excursions, and strolls along the Champs Elysées and the grand boulevards.

The carefree tourist crowds were lacking, transport authorities said there were almost the usual number of outside visitors in the capital. Most of them were English Tommies from the front who were joined here by wives or sweethearts from England. The latter came on special channel boats and on extra planes. There were also Czech and Polish soldiers on leave. The latter were given a special welcome by Polish military chiefs, who kept open house for their compatriots.

Many Soldiers on Boulevards.

Military uniforms were to be seen on the boulevards, but they by no means predominated, many soldiers on leave having put on their civilian clothes. Here and there were characteristic groups consisting of a French officer or private strolling in the sun with his wife and children.

This time, among the usual weekend crowd going to the country, there were many parents leaving to join children they had not seen since the children were sent to the country for safety last September.

Many persons could not get passage on the overcrowded trains and passed the day in the Bois de Boulogne or the Bois de Vincennes.

Women Don Sober Fashions.

Auteuil also saw what little fashion parade there was, women race fans appearing in gay and flower decked dresses. On the boulevards most of the women were soberly dressed this Easter, and few wore flowers. Their modes seemed to reflect a sober thankfulness that war had not yet grown intense and that they had a few extra days to enjoy with their menfolk.

Many churches had services less elaborate than usual, due partly to mobilization of priests, but all had choral singing or some other special afternoon ceremony.

SOLDIERS JOIN CROWDS FOR EASTER WORSHIP IN JERUSALEM SHRINE

JERUSALEM, March 24 (AP).—Hundreds of Australian and British soldiers were among the worshipers today at a brilliant Easter service in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre celebrating the resurrection of Christ as the climax of Holy week. Intermittent showers interrupted bright spring sunshine.

For the first time since 1937 laymen were permitted to enter the hallowed church which has been undergoing repairs. Soldiers followed the patriarchal procession into the shrine for a pontifical high mass.

War in Europe prevented the usual large pilgrimages from foreign lands. The visitors, however, included hundreds of Rotarians from all parts of the near east for a district convention in Jerusalem. In addition to those in the Holy Sepulchre church, masses were said in other Catholic churches thruout the city and in such towns as Nazareth.

OUR OWN BOOK OF THE MONTH

By CALEB

BEHIND every worthwhile book is the story of the book itself. The greater the book, with few exceptions, the greater this story of its coming into existence—and a splendid case in point is our own selection for today's comment, The Nazarene, by Sholem Asch.

Conception of its idea came to this Russian-born writer of many other exceptional novels when he was but 27 years old, during a visit to Palestine. "With characteristic youthful exuberance," he recalls, "I at once started to write; but it was not long before I realized I had years of research and effort ahead if I were to give the story the significance I envisioned." Instead, then, of representing an ordinary gestation-period in fiction, The Nazarene has been a third of a century in coming to fruition—for the Palestine visit which inspired it was made in 1907.

Published on October 19th of last year, the book's reception has been uniquely enthusiastic. More than a quarter-million copies indicate its sale to date, and no trifling secret explanatory of this ovation from critic and lay reader alike lies in the exhaustive research which Sholem Asch wisely invested in its preparation: in the careful building of historic background and the authenticating of its minutest details.

Equally unique . . . I should myself call it "inspired" . . . is the narrative technique by which the action of the book is consummated from three separate points d'appui: the account (in Part One) delivered by Cornelius, Roman military governor of Jerusalem under Pontius Pilate; the account (in Part Two) contributed by a purported "fragment of the gospel according to Judas Iscariot"; and the final, climax story (in Part Three) told by Joseph, a student of the one most tolerant and informed of the Pharisees, Nicodemus. Not only, by this device, is the unfoldment of the life and works of Christ presented from three illuminatingly contrasted interest angles but each recital is in itself the life-story of its own narrator, vivid with individual values.

Selection of The Nazarene for this once-a-month mention of some contemporary work exceptionally worth thoughtful reading, is easily validated. In scope and appeal its theme is "universal"; its appearance is extremely timely; its treatment of a great subject, its style and execution, are peculiarly equal to the dignity of the theme itself.

Books of such depth and dimension cross one's intellectual horizon but rarely in a lifetime. This volume in particular may prove, in the thought and experience of many readers, a star of the first magnitude—a light combining guidance with glory and renewed fortitude with renewed faith.

REYNAUD GAINS STRENGTH AFTER WABBLY START

More Deputies and Parts of Press Back Him.

PARIS, March 24 (AP).—The new government of Paul Reynaud, which got off to a shaky start last week, slowly is gaining strength as wavering members of the chamber of deputies and previously critical sections of the rightist press rally to his support.

The one vote majority which the premier received in his first test in the chamber Friday was increased to 17 as the official journal disclosed that several deputies had switched their stand.

Of five who voted against Reynaud, three announced they are now for him and two announced themselves as abstaining. Of two others listed as not voting, one has decided for the new government and one against.

Total of 277 Votes.

These changes, coming on the heels of others recorded yesterday, gave Reynaud a total of 277 votes in the chamber, with 153 against and 107 abstaining.

One of the deputies who voted against the new premier only to swing to his support today was the prominent rightist and journalist, Henry de Kerillis.

Publicly recording his support of the new government, De Kerillis published in his newspaper, L'Epoque, an open letter to Premier Reynaud recalling that "we are friends."

He criticized the opposition for failing to appreciate Reynaud's services in placing French economy on a sound basis as minister of finance and for forgetting that "events always prove you [Reynaud] are right."

Urge It Be Given Chance.

Other commentators urged that the Reynaud government, which has pledged itself to a policy of action in pressing the war against Germany, be given an opportunity to show what it can do before being put to the test of another vote of confidence in the chamber, which reconvenes April 2.

Most observers believed the government's war policy would be aimed primarily at stiffening the blockade against Germany and strengthening diplomatic resistance to extension of German influence among European neutrals.

KILLED BY FALL IN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Fred Syrig, 65 years old, of 3538 58th place, a watchman, was killed yesterday when he fell down the elevator shaft from the second floor to the basement in the Tower building, 6 North Michigan avenue.

CHARGES BRITISH, FRENCH INTRIGUE IN THE BALKANS

ROME, March 24 (AP).—Charges that Britain and France were intriguing in the Balkans against Italy and Germany with the aim of making that region a theater of war were made today by the editor, Virginio Gayda, who often voices the views of Premier Mussolini.

The Balkan situation, particularly as it involves Hungary and her relations with Rumania, likely will be the subject of conferences tentatively arranged for Tuesday by Hungary's premier, Count Paul Teleki, with Mussolini and the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano. Count Teleki arrived in Rome yesterday.

Gayda referred in his newspaper, Il Voce d'Italia, to the story in London and Paris newspapers of "a more or less clandestine plan between Italy and Germany to divide a good part of the Balkan territory."

He asserted the story was intended to create distrust and alarm in the Balkans. Gayda then accused some of the French of "dreaming of transferring the war to southeastern Europe" by creating a story of an Italian-German menace.

CHILDREN GATHER BONES TO HELP BRITAIN IN WAR

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—Britain is copying Adolf Hitler's policy of developing self-sufficiency in preparing for total warfare. School children, who have been enlisted for months to collect waste paper, are now contributing to the agricultural program by collecting bones to be made into fertilizers.

Edinburgh schools, it was announced today, more than a month ago began asking children to bring scrap bones from their homes. More than two tons have been obtained there weekly.

Country-Wide Move Urged.

It is now suggested that if this is done in all schools in the country, Britain will obtain immense quantities of potash, which hitherto has been imported. Hotels and restaurants also are being urged to aid the collections.

In February, Edinburgh collected 460 tons of waste paper that normally would have been thrown away. The importance of saving paper is revealed by the fact that the price of newsprint has gone up more than 100 per cent since the war started, and further increases seem certain.

One London borough, Tottenham, has organized a system by which practically all garbage is salvaged as metals, textiles, chemicals or fertilizers. The success of Tottenham's experiment is encouraging other localities to adopt the plan.

Public Demands More Action.

Home front agitation is growing for more military action. Despite denials by American newspapermen in Germany that the reprisal raid by British bombers on the German seaplane base on the Island of Sylt was effective, newspapers are attempting to preserve the high morale aroused thruout the country by Britain's first announcement. They insist the damage was severe. Several papers urge more raids of the same nature.

GRISWOLD, IA., MAYOR DIES.

Griswold, Ia., March 24 [Special].—Dr. H. D. Hully, 70 years old, a physician, and for many years mayor of Griswold, died yesterday. He was a candidate to succeed himself in tomorrow's election. His widow, a daughter, and a son survive.

RUMANIAN TRADE RECORD IS SET AS WAR RIVALS BUY

Figures Show German Share Equals British.

BY E. ... NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 24.—The struggle between Germany and Great Britain and France for possession of Rumanian oil and other products shot the country's export trade to a new high mark in January, it was revealed today.

Exports exceeded imports for the month by 949,180,000 lei [about $5,221,000]. Exports totaled 2,799,648,000 lei [about $15,398,000] and imports 1,850,468,000 lei [about $10,177,000]. A year ago in January, when warring powers were not courting Rumania, her foreign trade showed an unfavorable balance of about $1,829,000 at the rate of exchange of that period.

Results of the activities of British and German trade agents who swarmed into Rumania after the start of the war and now fill Bucharest hotels, are seen in the figures for last January. Britain and Germany purchased between them more than half of everything exported. Four nations, Britain, France, Germany, and Italy, bought about five-sevenths of all the goods Rumania sold abroad.

Britons and Nazis Share Alike.

Britain and Germany ran almost neck and neck in January in the contest for Rumanian products. Germany bought goods valued at 748,614,000 lei [about $4,117,000], while the British figure was given as 719,000,000 lei [about $3,955,000].

Both Britain and Germany are intensifying their efforts to increase their shares of Rumanian exports. Berlin's foremost trade pact negotiator Karl Clodius, is in Bucharest and in a few days a Rumanian trade mission will leave for London. Reports that Germany delivered an economic ultimatum to Rumania are officially denied here.

Germany, blockaded by the British navy, needs Rumania's oil, wheat, corn, barley, timber, and meat to carry on the war. Britain hopes to deprive the Germans of Rumanian products by buying them itself.

Italy and France are buying heavily from Rumania, tho not on the same scale as the two other powers. Italy's purchases in January totaled 430,000,000 lei [about $2,365,00] and the French spent 132,141,000 lei [about $727,000].

Italo-German Total Biggest.

Italy and Germany together succeeded in obtaining a larger share than Britain and France. They bought goods worth 1,178,614,000 lei [about $6,482,000], while the Franco-British total was 851,141,000 lei [about $4,682,000].

Exports to all warring powers and Italy showed a sharp rise over January, 1939, when British purchases totaled 484,000,000, Germany's 480,545,000, Italy's 179,000,000, and France's 88,105,000 lei.

In January, 1939, Rumania exported goods worth 1,386,138,000 lei, which was 243,813,000 lei less than the value of her imports.

[The Rumanian lei was worth three-quarters of one cent in January, 1939, and is now worth 55/100 of a cent.]

The favorable balance for January, 1940, is attributed to "Rumania's economic and political neutrality."

Other Nations Squeezed Out.

With Germany, Italy, Britain, and France bidding for trade favors with fancy prices and tempting deals, a number of nations that formerly bought here were squeezed out of the market last January. Among them were Estonia, Finland, Lithuania, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Canada, Brazil, China, and Mexico.

Rumania also is increasing purchases from Germany and Italy. Compared with a year ago, imports from Germany jumped in January from 597,000,000 to 832,000,000 lei, and from Italy from 109,000,000 to 234,000,000 lei. Imports from Britain remained practically unchanged at 100,085,000 lei. Imports from France dropped from 54,000,000 to 11,000,000 lei.

GERMANS BOAST: 'EMPIRES CANNOT EQUAL OUR ARMY'

Cite 5 Years of Training Given Aviators.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 24.—While the expected visit of Vyacheslav Molotov, Russian premier and commissar for foreign affairs, has been postponed—probably only for a week, Nazis assert—Germans were given new encouragement this Easter Sunday by Robert Ley, chief of the Labor Front.

He was addressing workers who are building fortifications and soldiers. He told them that "Germany's superiority is beyond description. German soldiers are the best, noblest, and most handsome the world ever saw."

The boys liked that passage and applauded with enthusiasm.

Powerful Combination.

The western powers sought to isolate Germany, but "Germany has powerful friends, Italy, Russia, and Japan. Together with Germany they form the greatest power in the world," Ley said.

Ley said Germany forms a bloc of "124,000,000, including 84,000,000 Germans."

Tho Nazis have been trying to convince the people of India and other groups that the Nazis are the true protectors of the colored races, Ley today spoke of the populations of the French and British empires, ridiculing their total numbers, adding that "while they were at it the English should have added all the apes in the empires."

Increased aerial activity on both sides of the western front is interpreted by some circles here as meaning that the period of comparative inactivity in this war is nearing its end. The direction in which the German blow may fall was indicated in today's Frankfurter Zeitung, frequently the mouthpiece of the foreign office. The newspaper said:

"We repeat, England has ceased to be an island. We can hit England very hard and as soon as the word is passed she will be hit."

Rely on Air Superiority.

Germany is confident that no effort on the part of her western foes will enable them to catch up with the German "air superiority."

"For five years we have been training pilots and other flying personnel and antiaircraft gunners on a large scale, not to mention the war experience many of them obtained in Spain and later in Poland," the newspaper said. "The allies cannot fill that gap even if they succeed in building as many planes as we turn out."

British raids, such as the attack on Sylt, seem to disclose, the Germans say, important factors which hamper British attackers. First, because of German antiaircraft gunners, the British raiders were not able to fly low enough to aim their bombs carefully. This, the Germans declare, explained in part the little damage they say was done.

Explosives Not the Best.

It was also asserted that even when British bombs scored a hit or fell near an objective, the damage done was negligible. This, the Germans argue, shows that the explosives used by the English are much inferior to those used by the Germans.

While the Germans are convinced that they are able to deal out deadly blows, they believe they are unassailable "on the only front left to the allies after the end of the Russo-Finnish war—the western front."

A French drive in southeastern Europe or in the near east, the Germans argue, would necessitate active coöperation of Turkey or Balkan countries.

"Even if these countries would let themselves be persuaded to help the allies, France's crack divisions would bleed to death on the banks of the Danube or in the Caucasus," the Germans say.

HINT AT ARMED ATTACKS BY IRISH TERRORIST ARMY

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 24 (AP).—A statement from the Dublin headquarters of the outlawed Irish Republican army saying "The time may shortly be arriving for armed intervention on both sides of the border in Ireland" was reported to have been read today at a Republican meeting in Londonderry.

The brief session was attended by 30 men and five women, some of whom were armed, in defiance of the Northern Ireland ban on meetings and processions commemorating the 1916 Easter rebellion.

Prayers were said in Irish for Republicans who have died in their cause, and the Irish Republican flag was displayed.

THE BRITISH TRADE OFFENSIVE.

For several years before the outbreak of the present war Germany drove hard for trade with South American countries. The campaign was successful, especially in Chile, Brazil, and Peru, in taking business away from the United States and Great Britain. For example, in each of the three years immediately preceding the war Germany was in first place in supplying the Brazilian market. Before that for many years the United States and Great Britain had been one and two.

If this success had resulted from free trade and open and above board methods, neither we nor the British would have had just cause for complaint. But there was a general complaint that the competition was unfair. It was asserted that the Germans, with barter agreements and subsidies from their government, were able to take away customers for hardware, machinery, vehicles, structural steel, and other products. Germany bought cotton, coffee, cocoa, and tobacco at higher than world market prices, paying for these commodities in askl, or barter marks, good only for German products.

Germany is no longer an unfair competitor for South American trade. But Great Britain is now driving aggressively for trade there, and is using the same methods she joined with us in condemning when they were employed by the Germans.

Last fall a reciprocal trade treaty between the United States and Argentina was all but signed. The British stepped in, killed our treaty negotiations, and obtained an agreement with Argentina by which American goods are boycotted if English goods are available. Payment for goods purchased from Argentina, under this deal, are made thru blocked balances in London. These blocked or askl pounds can be used to pay for English goods and to repatriate Argentine securities.

Last week a dispatch from our correspondent in Chile told of barter deals which had just been concluded by the British with both Brazil and Chile. Other similar deals are reported to be on the fire.

When Germany was employing these practices, to our economic disadvantage, our government made what was described as a counterattack. A series of conferences was arranged on a grand scale. There were cultural meetings to offset Nazi propaganda. Representations were made that treaties were being violated. Germany was blacklisted in the American market, denied most favored nation treatment, and punished by the imposition of countervailing duties.

Now the British are using precisely the same unfair tactics, but Washington is perfectly complaisant. There is not a word of complaint. Unless something is done soon by the state department to protect our trade in South America, it is going to be clear that our department of state is just a branch of the British foreign office.

TELLING HOW MUCH YOU MAKE.

Mr. Roosevelt, unable to hold one of his scheduled press conferences because he had a bad cold, nevertheless had something to say and he had his secretary, Stephen Early, say it. If Mr. Roosevelt had been able to meet the reporters, Mr. Early explained, he would have said: "For the first time in my knowledge a United States senator has openly advised the American people to violate the law and holds himself out as one person who will not answer the two income tax questions when he knows full well that, in his case, the answer would be unnecessary, since the enumerator would know that the senator earns more than $5,000."

The senator was unnamed, but Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire thought he knew who was meant and so did all the reporters and most of the general public familiar with the census row which has been going on in the senate over making the people tell what they earn if less than $5,000.

Senator Tobey replied to Mr. Roosevelt's statement in a telegram which asked him if he took the position that an unauthorized ruling of a bureau constitutes a law of the United States, reminding him that law by edict is the foundation of Herr Hitler's government and of all others like it. Mr. Roosevelt then put Harry Hopkins, secretary of commerce, on the spot as defender of the census rule requiring the wage earner to speak up. Mr. Hopkins in turn deplored "the spectacle of a United States senator calling for resistance to the authority of government" and endeavored to end the argument by saying that he had two honorary law degrees to Senator Tobey's one. Universities are getting careless.

One other observation might be made in comment on Mr. Roosevelt's criticism of Senator Tobey, and Mr. Roosevelt may be allowed to write that himself. He did so, several years ago. "I hope your committee," he wrote in a well remembered letter to Representative Samuel B. Hill, urging the passage of the Guffey coal bill, "will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation."

Mr. Roosevelt says that this quotation from the letter is misused because it is lifted from its context, in which he explained that the situation was urgent, the benefits of the legislation evident, and that therefore the ultimate question of constitutionality should be left to an orderly decision by the Supreme court. However, it is still apparent that Mr. Roosevelt was asking the legislators to violate their own conscientious ideas of constitutionality, if they had any, and that his notion of an orderly decision by the Supreme court was a decision by a court packed with his own appointees, chosen for his own purposes.

THE PEACE OF THE GOLDEN GLOVES.

The European Golden Gloves team, selected by competition in Italy, is at sea on its way to Chicago for the international bouts at the Stadium April 10. Italy sends the flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight, and lightweight champions; Sweden, the welterweight, middleweight, and heavyweight, and Hungary, the light heavyweight. Some of these boxers are new to the Chicago ring; some are veterans of other appearances. All are rated very good.

Peaceable international competitions have had a hard time of it since the holding of the Olympic games in Berlin in 1936. The 1940 games were awarded to Japan, which eagerly accepted the responsibility and undertook to win the admiration of the world by success in pleasing all the competing nations. The Japanese wanted, then, to gain the goodwill and compliments of other peoples, to show the beauty of their land, and to make friends by their cordiality and hospitality. They had to abandon their plans and give up the games when they went to war in China. At first they thought that incident would be closed in time to permit them to show that aggression with its accompanying truculence was not the only side of Japanese life. The Chinese revealed a mistake in calculation.

When the Japanese turned the games back to the international committee, Finland was chosen as the host. Again a people planned to win the good opinion of the world by showing their amiable qualities in entertaining friendly rivals in athletic sports. The world knows what stopped that, and altho Finland, coming out of the war imposed upon it, had a moment when it thought it could reengage itself to be the host, the idea was abandoned because, even if the Finns could have done it, there was too much war all about them. Too many of the nations which might have been competing in peace were either in war or in dread of it. Germany was to have had the winter Olympic games, but the attack on Poland wiped out those sports.

So it is something of an achievement for the Golden Gloves tournament to emerge from the obstructions and obstacles of a warring Europe and, in spite of disaster and dismay, present another spectacle in which the international contestants are fair minded sportsmen, in which victory does not foster injustice and arrogance, and defeat is with and not without honor.

The European boxing federation could draw on only a limited number of countries but didn't allow that to discourage it. Spring as it comes to Europe this year brings fear and not a rebirth of optimistic life. But the migration of the European boxers to Chicago is a small yet significant symbol of what might be the form and spirit of international competition if rulers would permit.

A SCATTERED INDUSTRY.

Spokesmen for the aviation industry complained the other day against proposed increases in railroad freight rates on aircraft and aircraft engines. The airplane builders said the additional burden might amount to as much as 4 million dollars a year and might oblige them to fly their machines to the point of delivery rather than transport them by rail.

The complaint provides another illustration of the irrational manner in which the airplane industry is operating in this country. Many branches of the industry are where they oughtn't to be. Some of the most important airplane factories are located on the Pacific coast in the neighborhood of Seattle and Los Angeles. Others are scattered along the Atlantic seaboard. The engines are built, for the most part, in the east and most of them close to the Atlantic coast. In consequence the industry is peculiarly vulnerable to foreign attack.

That presents a danger in wartime and an unnecessary expense at all times. It is as if automobile bodies were built in Portland, Me., and automobile engines in Portland, Ore. The airplane industry, like the automobile industry, could reduce its costs and increase its efficiency considerably if planes and engines were built in the same region, close to sources of raw materials, close to the plants where tools are made, and in an area where skilled labor is plentiful. In the interest of national safety no airplane factory should be located within 200 miles of the border.

The establishment of an airplane engine factory in Indianapolis was a step toward a rational relocation of the industry. The advantages of transferring the principal plants to the middle west and, in particular, to the Chicago area, are plain. Costs will be reduced, factory efficiency promoted, and the defensive power of the nation enhanced.

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE POLL TAX.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The move in congress for a federal law barring poll tax payment as a condition of voting for President, senators or members of the lower house of congress will hardly bear close inspection.

The constitution and the 16th amendment state that the qualifications for voting for senators and representatives shall be the same as the qualifications for voting for the most numerous branch of the various state legislatures.

Maury Maverick and other supporters of the Geyer bill admit that congress has no right to abolish poll taxes as a condition of voting for state legislators. And if this is true, congress has no right to abolish poll taxes as a condition of voting for federal officials, since the constitution says that the qualifications in the two cases shall be identical.

Something should be done about poll taxes, but the Geyer bill apparently does not meet the need.

If congress wants to do something about undemocratic restrictions on the franchise, it might explore the possibilities of section 2 of the 14th amendment, which states that when the right to vote in either state or federal elections is abridged for any male citizen of legal age, the number of the offending state's representatives in congress shall be reduced in proportion to the number of citizens disqualified from voting.

Congress has never exercised the power conferred upon it by this section, but there can be no question of its right to do so. The poll tax might not be considered an abridgment of the franchise within the meaning of this clause, but there certainly are other abridgments against which this clause would be an invincible weapon.

TWINS IN LITERATURE.

Any one who undertook the compilation of twins as characters in drama and fiction would find it a herculean and endless task. But if he confined his research to twins as contributors to literature, he could write his thesis on a couple of thumb nails.

American literature, however, provides a neat pair of literary twins in the Clarks, Lewis Gaylord, and Willis Gaylord, born in 1810. They were minor men of letters who became magazine editors; and when the Concord school was in flower and New England the haunt of the Muses, they were highly regarded as gentlemen of good taste and patrons of belles lettres. They wrote the checks that kept Pegasus in oats.

Lewis was much more of a figure than his twin brother. He became the editor of the Knickerbocker Magazine in 1834, and directed its happy destiny until it faded out in 1859. This, mark you, was the foremost literary publication of the time, and among Lewis Gaylord Clark's contributors were Longfellow, Bryant, Irving, Cooper, Lowell, Fitz-Greene Halleck, and Nathaniel P. Willis. [Edgar Allan Poe did not belong to this circle of the illuminati, and one may wonder if Editor Clark ever had the nerve to reject a piece of manuscript in Poe's copper plate writing.]

Some of Dickens' work, too, had its first American printing in the Knickerbocker, and when the great novelist planned his trip to this country, Editor Clark was the man he consulted first. You can find the letters if you will search thru a few volumes of Dickensiana. Clark's home was the first place where Dickens hung his hat on American soil.

Lewis Gaylord Clark wrote for his magazine a department called "The Editor's Table." He published two books: "The Knickerbocker Sketch Book" and "Knickknacks from an Editor's Table." . . . The other twin, Willis, edited a weekly magazine in Philadelphia in the 1830s; then the Columbian Gazette, a religious periodical; then the Philadelphia Gazette. He published a book of poems. Willis died in 1841, Lewis in 1873.

WOMEN AND TREES.

Remember, women, that you are as trees
Which spring and summer graciously endow
With transient loveliness; you wear, as these
The soft, bright hair, the tender curve of throat
To stir and hold the heart while May is yours.
And you must feel, as they, the frosts that coat
The bough at last and learn no leaf endures.

Then, mindful of the rooted sisterhood
Revealed against the impartial winter sky,
Lovely with dark essential grace which stood
Against the icy winds and did not die,
You, too, must keep such beauty at the core

The Sick Man of the Arts.

Brooks Atkinson, drama critic of the New York Times, diagnoses the various ailments of the American stage like a stern physician, and says among other things:

"The amount of money that must be spent before a play can have a public showing is out of all proportion to the culture, art, amusement, or intellect involved. . . . The barrier between the professional and the amateur theaters is sharply defined and jealously guarded by pedantic policemen. It costs from $10,000 to $35,000 to cross it."

(Ulysses S. Grant, 1822-'85.)

A lucid, ample, unassuming mind,
Strong as a magnet gathering details,
Quick to perceive, whom smoke nor noise could blind,
Unpromising, unhopeful and unknown,
Nearing the shores of forty, grimly poor,
Like one who is by winds contrary blown
To paths aloof, irregular, obscure.
Then suddenly the hurricane of war,
And havoc of a million marching men—
In management of battle like a star
His genius rises with the strength of ten.
Never great gifts so sudden brought to view

Kites in the Windy Sky.

Rain-washed and wind-swept, the March sky is scoured to a brilliant blue. And on this bright sea floats the fleet of kites. Red and green, yellow and white, they dip, and rise, and float with a grace that no earth-bound creature knows. Sometimes they dart upward swiftly, surely, with one powerful pull. Sometimes they lunge terrifyingly almost to the very earth, only to save themselves and start the long climb back. Children run merrily, their brief garments fluttering gaily in the breeze, their shrill, happy voices mingling with the rush and turmoil of the wind. Far, far above their heads—far, too, above their wind-tossed kites—there floats a ghost moon, like the silver kite flown by some giant's child.

Eats and Drinks in Alaska.

Regarding the Finnish liqueur called Mesimarja [March 19] made from a rare berry which grows near the arctic circle: The Russian colony in Sitka, Alaska, makes cordials and liqueurs from cloudberries and bilberries, which grow only in sections close to the arctic regions.

During the month of May the Sitkan housewives make barley cakes and golden pudding prepared with the above liqueurs and served with the cured breasts of the ptarmigan and the capercalizie. For breakfast you get pancakes of buckwheat flour and sunflower seeds, with cloudberry sirup. C. Swital.

The "customer response" of the Line o' Type column these days is simply enormous. We get telephone calls for linotype machine operators; mail for Mr. Lineman, who apparently works in the advertising department; and merchandise bills for a mysterious "Mr. O'Toole."

KIDNEY VICTIMS NEED PROTEIN.

SOME of us can remember when it was quite the thing to starve those who were ill. The feelings and desires of the patient were not given the slightest consideration. Happily all this has passed. Research and experiment have shown us clearly that the afflicted person will return to normal more speedily if resistance is maintained. Naturally, nausea and vomiting must be guarded against and only those edibles allowed that will not prove upsetting.

When typhoid fever was rife we diminished markedly the chances for recovery by the dictum "no food" on the theory that a severely inflamed intestine could not withstand the load. Later it was learned that even the possibility of causing a bowel hemorrhage was greatly lessened thru the employment of nourishing menus, while—at the same time—we added strength to the sufferer.

In kidney disease, particularly, the individual must be given enough nutriment [including protein] to replace at least the body wastes. Milk alone will not be sufficient. True enough, this fluid may be prescribed for a few days in beginning nephritis. But the hazard will be enhanced if this regimen is insisted upon after the acute period is over.

Common sense tells us that when the renal organs are impaired they are not able to function at par. Nevertheless, protein feedings will be helpful rather than harmful. What is needed is something to reinforce the fighting power of the body. While fruit juices and milk may comprise the diet at the outset, meat must be provided within a few days. Otherwise, swelling of the tissues and weakness are likely to occur. Salt need not be withdrawn entirely, as palatability is important. The quantity, however, may be curtailed somewhat or potassium chloride substituted.

As the patient progresses toward convalescence it may not be necessary to increase the protein allowance beyond that of the balanced diet—namely, two to four ounces daily. Should some damage to the renal apparatus remain—as shown by a rise in blood pressure—the amount may be decreased; but we must recall that activity uses up this substance and it must be restored to normal.

What rations may be relied upon to furnish protein? Cheese, eggs, fish, meat, and milk possess the highest values. Beef contains about 26 per cent and mutton and chicken vary but little. Unless there is some good reason for advising such items as liver, tongue, and sweetbreads, they may well be omitted as they yield uric acid which is excreted thru the kidneys.

There should be no controversy as to the rationale of this program. Let us assume that inflammation of the kidneys has been brought on by an infection coupled with exposure, loss of sleep, and overfatigue. We can scarcely expect recovery unless we supply the body with those materials designed to build reserve. Because proteins produce urea—which is voided via the urine—it was long thought that they would be detrimental; but the danger of omitting them is greater than is their presence. In other words, the injured structure appears to prefer a new stock of this element rather than take it from the muscles, which process would gradually increase weakness. Furthermore, the blood demands enough for the purpose of manufacturing antitoxin, thus destroying the causative organisms—for example, the streptococci.

The rule, then, in kidney disease, is to give as much food as the patient requires and there is little likelihood that symptoms will be made worse under this plan. Only when uremia [coma] is imminent should the diet be lessened drastically. It is clear why physicians have lost their fear of adequate protein in any stage of the malady with the exception of the acute phase and that of uremia. It is now generally recognized that meat starvation will kill the victim far more rapidly than will a plethora of this article.

SPACING MEALS.

M. S. writes:

1. Is it wise to eat all the food one requires daily at a single meal?

2. My daughter takes enemas every day and eats but one meal—dinner. I say three meals are better for a person with a spastic colon, which is her trouble. Furthermore, she gulps her edibles in about 10 minutes. Is this hygienic?

REPLY.

1. No, indeed.

2. Food digests and is better absorbed when taken in small portions. Four meals are preferable to three. The regimen she is following is utterly senseless. One need not wonder that colon trouble has developed. Why not be more like other folks? Her program cannot fail to overdistend the stomach.

SENSITIVE TO COLD.

A. M. writes: When I enter a warm room after being in the cold air my face and hands break out in lumps. The itching persists for about an hour and then disappears. Is this a form of hives?

REPLY.

Yes, due to a sensitivity to marked changes in temperature.

FISH BONE.

M. C. writes: Will lemon juice dislodge a fish bone in the throat?

REPLY.

Why not have a physician remove the obstruction? Citric acid [lemon juice] is scarcely strong enough to dissolve bony material—at least during the time that contact can be made.

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE.

Wilmette, Ill., March 19.—I have carried the maximum of $10,000 of United States government veterans' life insurance since shortly after the war and Ex-Soldier's complaint of failure to receive premium receipts promptly interested me to examine my own experience.

As a current example, on the morning of March 9 I mailed a personal check to Washington together with premium notice and yesterday morning, the 18th, I received premium receipt postmarked March 15, 7:00 p. m. I mail premiums to the Chicago agents of other life insurance companies, using personal checks, and the average is six days between the time of mailing premium and return of the receipt. It has been my impression that the time required in both instances was to permit the check to clear, but whether it does or not, a few days has no significance that I can see. Maybe the time would be shortened if postal money orders were used instead of checks.

My first government policy endowed Sept. 1, 1939, and, as a second illustration, the check for the proceeds was received Sept. 2, 1939, tho the envelope inclosing the check was postmarked Sept. 1.

Assuming Ex-Soldier does get his premium receipts from other life insurance companies promptly I wonder if he has ever compared their rates with government rates. He might find he is paying well for the promptness he declares he receives. Since last September I haven't had the maximum of veterans' insurance and regret that more is not obtainable.

I am not a Democrat and have never had any connection with the government or its departments. EX-SAILOR.

JUKE BOX BLUES.

Chicago, March 20. — Police Captain Matthew Frolich's method of dealing with labor racketeers in the South Chicago police district is probably the most effective one available to him. Politics won't let him abolish labor slugging, so he abolishes music.

It recalls the venerable jest about the boardinghouse keeper who got home early one night and found the star boarder embracing his [the boarding house keeper's] wife on the living room couch. So he sold the couch.

B. W. WILLIAMS.

FORECLOSURE LAWS.

Chicago, March 19.—Your recent editorial with reference to changing the foreclosure laws in Illinois was greatly appreciated. In order that the building industry and the necessary financing may more freely operate in this state it will be necessary to change the foreclosure laws and anything your powerful paper can do to help the situation I am sure will be appreciated by labor, manufacturers, the mortgage industry, and the people, who, after all, will be the ones to benefit most. ADOLPH F. KRAMER.

THE LIQUID OXYGEN TEST.

Springfield, Ill., March 19.—It appears preparations are under way for a test before army and navy officials, et al., of Lester B. Barlow's "most deadly liquid oxygen explosive." To determine the radius of destruction live goats are to be staked out for various degrees of mutilation. I trust you will promptly voice an effective protest against what seems to me a cruel and unnecessary procedure when more humane methods should be available. E. R. AMICK.

AN INFANT INDUSTRY.

Chicago, March 18.—Concerning "juke boxes." Some one with a voice should point out to the city council that unemployment is the nation's No. 1 problem today, and therefore the prime thought in every public official's mind should be to pamper and pet, aid and abet struggling new industries, since these tend to reduce unemployment. STANLEY POLD.

BIG CROPS, BIG PRICES.

River Forest, Ill., March 19. — Could anybody with any sense think of cutting down production when the farmer receives a higher price per bushel when he raises more? The records in the department of agriculture show this to be true. Over a period of 26 straight years, from 1909 on, wheat brought a $1.01 average per bushel in the 13 small crop years and $1.20 a bushel in the 13 large crop years. A big crop of grain is such an incentive to good times and prosperity that it boosts its own price thru increased employment and demand. The New Dealers may have the farmers' customers in town so hog tied that the law of supply and demand does not work as formerly. If so, that is another reason to "throw the rascals out." E. W. C.

DUAL CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, March 19.—Your recent editorial on dual citizenships prompts me to suggest that the United States government should require every nation, by treaty, to release from allegiance all persons migrating to this country. If any country refuses to accede to such terms then this country should entirely exclude immigrants from that country. The safest policy for our own national existence would be to exclude immigrants from countries whose governments do not grant to their own people the right which our government grants to its citizens, to wit: the right of expatriation.

DAVID ORNSTEEN.

HIS 10 CENTS' WORTH.

La Grange, March 18.—As a victim of infantile paralysis, I was interested in the letter of Edward G. Fischer, printed in the Voice of the People this morning. It reminded me of a little episode that took place before my radio during the March of Dimes appeal. Taking out a 10 cent piece, I addressed it in this wise:

"Little Dime, seldom have I heard a more touching appeal for so good a cause. Here's your chance! To make sure that you will benefit some worthy paralysis sufferer I'm going to put you where you'll do most good." And then I slipped it back into my pocket.

WM. M. BUETTNER.

SPEEDING THE CENSUS.

Rockford, Ill., March 18.—It would greatly assist all census takers and save at least 50 per cent of their time if blanks were placed conveniently in every postoffice so individuals could easily obtain one and fill it out at leisure and have it completely answered, or nearly so, before arrival of the census taker.

L. G. VANDENBERG.

LILLIAN RUSSELL'S COSTUME.

Chicago, March 17.—In the letter, "Lillian Russell on a Bicycle," in today's Voice of the People a Mr. Emanuel writes: "She might have looked fine to some in tights, but on a bicycle she was a flop." Did Miss Russell ever appear in tights? In what play? If my memory is correct, she refused to do so.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Quincy, Ill., March 21 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. How long is it permissible for a lawyer, given full power of attorney, to close a large estate?

2. May the law force or insist he hasten it?

3. What procedure should a wife take whose husband, having had undulant fever, has become so irritable he thinks everything he does is the right thing? His wife had seven children, two of whom are at home; also two grandchildren. She can no longer tolerate the sight of him, and people say why should she be responsible for what he does. Had she any money she would have left five years ago.

4. Is there any procedure for her to get money and take her girls and leave? Husband is on WPA and has given his wife absolutely no money. The wife and daughters are refined and morally clean.

B. P. C.

1. Before this year the period for filing claims was one year, and in general an estate could not be closed until the expiration of such year. At present the claim period is nine months and it should be possible to close estates within a little more than a year.

2. Yes, if he has delayed unreasonably. You can try asking the clerk of the Probate court to bring pressure to bear on him to close.

3. The physician handling the case is in a better position as to the patient's mental condition than we are. Conceivably he ought to be put in an institution.

4. Yes, she should employ an attorney.

VALIDITY OF GIFT.

Chicago, March 22 [Legal Friend of the People].—A friend who recently passed away left a sealed envelope containing a note for me stating she had placed in the bank a bond addressed to me and further stating that one of the executors could just give it to me and that would be all that was necessary. I understood this was not a registered bond and is simply made over to me. This bond was not mentioned in her will except to say that there was a security in my name.

The executors claim I have no legal right to this bond under the Massachusetts law. This happened in Massachusetts. A. B.

In general, a gift which is not completed during the grantor's lifetime must take the form of a will. It seems probable that the executors are right, but if the bond is substantial in value you might go over all of your facts in a personal interview with an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TODAY IN HISTORY

March 25, 1865.

A confederate corps under Gen. Gordon surprised a Union garrison in Fort Stedman, near Petersburg, Va. The attack came early in the morning and the confederates occupied the stronghold. When daylight came, however, and federal guns were brought to bear, the position became untenable. Even so, nearly 1,000 Union soldiers were killed in recapturing the position. Gordon finally retreated after losing 2,000 men. The battle was one of a series around Petersburg.

BROOKLYN FOLKS A BIT SKEPTICAL ON CRIME DRIVE

Waiting to Be Shown in Murder Ring Case.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—Teeming Brooklyn, most populous of New York City's boroughs, was the scene this last week of a startling investigation into a murder syndicate of hired killers. Long suffering from lack of law enforcement, the Brooklynese, like Missourians, will have to be shown it is a real clean-up.

William O'Dwyer.

So far law abiding citizens in Brooklyn are withholding judgment, travelers to that borough find, because they have seen other sensational investigations flare up and then vanish in thin air during the last few years. They are ready to applaud if organized crime is finally broken up in their community. Otherwise, they will charge it up to politics.

O'Dwyer Heads Inquiry.

Heading the inquiry is District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Kings county [Brooklyn]. O'Dwyer claims to have solved more than thirty murders thru the confessions of two young trigger men, Abraham [Pretty] Levene and Anthony [the Duke] Maffetore. They are under indictment for a slaying and anxious to save their skins.

Abe Reles, a third member of the gang and an unusually vicious hoodlum, has also decided to tell the authorities his story, according to reports emanating from O'Dwyer's office. Reles' wife, who expects a baby in June, is said to have persuaded him to confess his sins.

As a result of the investigation Martin [Buggsy] Goldstein and Seymour Magoon, a pair of hoodlums, are being held for the murder of Irving Penn, music publishing executive, eight months ago. His assailants reputedly mistook him for a witness in a prosecution by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

May Solve Redwood Case.

Light was also said to have been thrown on the killing three years ago of Norman Redwood, union leader of the "sandhogs" or subway construction workers, at his Teaneck, N. J., home.

Also laid at the door of the murder syndicate was the slaying of Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer in October of 1935. Schultz was boss of New York City's policy game racket and pal of Tammany leader James J. [Jimmy] Hines, chief patronage dispenser for the Roosevelt administration in Manhattan. Dewey convicted Hines of complicity in the racket.

Five men have been indicted for murder in Sullivan county, where gangsters frequent summer resorts. The two men out of five named in the sealed indictments were Irving [Big Gangi] Cohen, a bit player in the movies, and Harry Strauss, also known as Pittsburgh Phil.

These are impressive disclosures and if O'Dwyer eventually backs them up with convictions in the courts his reputation as a prosecutor will reach great heights.

Groomed for Mayoral Race.

O'Dwyer, young, curly haired and personable, is being groomed by Tammany hall and the Democratic machine as candidate for mayor in 1941. He is a former policeman and city magistrate. Taking office as district attorney in January, O'Dwyer owes his election to the powerful organization headed by Frank V. Kelly, Roosevelt lieutenant in Brooklyn.

In various statements about the murder-for-hire syndicate, O'Dwyer made one that took observers of the New York crime situation by surprise. He said he had been unable to unearth any leads connecting the gang with politicians.

It was revelations of the politico-criminal hookup in Brooklyn which led to two attempts to remove O'Dwyer's predecessor in office, William F. X. Geoghan, but Gov. Herbert H. Lehman refused to take the step. Then the charges of District Attorney Dewey in his campaign for governor in the fall of 1938 forced Lehman to appoint a special prosecutor.

Amen Drive Bogs Down.

John Harlan Amen was appointed by the governor to supersede Geoghan and investigate the tieup between the underworld and officialdom in Brooklyn. After a great splurge of indictments at the start, Amen's drive bogged down in the courts.

Kings County Judge George W. Martin was acquitted of bribery in one trial brought by Amen. Subsequently Amen's attempt to have Martin removed from the bench thru a vote by the state senate was unsuccessful.

In another Amen prosecution a jury freed Assistant District Attorney Alexander R. Baldwin, accused of taking money in the fur racket. An acquittal was also won by Police Lieutenant Cuthbert J. Behan, charged by Amen with stealing records in order to cover up on the bail bond racket.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1940 Traffic Toll

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

RETIRED TAVERN OWNER DIES OF ACCIDENT INJURY

Andrew Jensen, 78 years old, 1501 Keystone avenue, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital of injuries incurred Saturday night when he was struck at Pulaski road and Le Moyne street by an automobile. The driver was James R. Murnane, 3628 65th street. Jensen was a retired tavern owner.

Dr. James P. Fitzgerald of the Henrotin hospital staff, who was injured in a motor accident Saturday night, was greatly improved last night. He was able to leave the hospital, where he was under treatment, for his home at 12 Ravine terrace, Highland Park.

Injuries suffered in a collision March 17 caused the death in Southtown hospital of Lawrence Rachinski, 22, of 5614 South Winchester avenue. He was riding in a car driven by Frank Balchuse, 7014 South Talman avenue, which collided at 51st street and Wolcott avenue with a car driven by Frank J. Piekarski, 5319 South Ashland avenue.

Ben Sanders, 47 years old, was killed when he drove his car into the path of an Erie passenger train at Columbia avenue in Hammond. He lived at 813 Hoffman street, Hammond.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 213 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 163 were killed in Chicago, where 4,579 were injured in the same period.

4 High School Students Die as Train Strikes Auto

Cobden, Ill., March 24 (AP).—Four high school students were killed here tonight when their automobile was struck by a train. The dead are Roberta Stroud and Betty Noel, both of Cobden, and William Baine and Robert Godall of Carbondale. The quartet, after awaiting the passage of a northbound freight, apparently failed to see an approaching southbound one-car special train of the Illinois Central and drove onto the tracks. Their car was demolished.

WIDOW, 61, SLAIN BY ATTACKER ON WAY TO CHURCH

Rapist Inflicts 20 Knife Wounds on Victim.

Churchgoers on their way to south side Easter services found a neighbor woman raped and murdered yesterday. Police believe she was attacked as she was going to an early Easter mass. She was left lifeless beneath the back steps of an electrical company storehouse at 11527 Michigan avenue.

The woman was Mrs. Petronela Krawczyk, 61 years old, 11224 State street. Her husband, Casimir, died five weeks ago. Her son, Vincent, 34, is a postal clerk who has been ill in a hospital for months.

Dinner with Mother Planned.

The son had been given permission to leave the hospital to have Easter dinner with his wife and his mother in his mother's home.

Mrs. Krawczyk's body was discovered by Joseph Castellanos Jr., 8, and his brother, Peter, 11, of 135 Kingston avenue. The boys, who were on their way to church, summoned their father. Two hundred persons bound for church quickly gathered on the scene.

Part of the victim's clothes had been torn off. Dr. Sinclair S. Snider, coroner's physician, found that she had been bludgeoned and stabbed to death.

Search in Vain for Clews.

Capt. Romaine Goudie of the Kensington police said he believed Mrs. Krawczyk had started to services at St. Salomea's Catholic church. Altho his men searched the district, no one could be found who could throw any light on the mystery.

All police districts early today were asked to be on the lookout for a man who entered a hamburger stand near 112th street and Michigan avenue, only three blocks from the scene of the crime early yesterday and asked a waiter for iodine to apply to a three inch cut on the palm of his left hand. The waiter gave a description of the man.

SEEK INDICTMENT OF JOYRIDING COP IN 2 AUTO DEATHS

Assistant State's Attorney Alexander Napoli said yesterday that he would go before the grand jury today to seek manslaughter indictments against Policeman Frank Hansen of Hazelcrest, whose joy ride in a police car last Feb. 22 ended in the deaths of two persons and injuries to himself and two others.

Climaxing a tavern drinking party, Hansen, on duty as night policeman, drove the police car past a traffic light at 95th and Halsted streets and struck the car of William Knapp, 9963 Edbrooke avenue. Knapp and Amos Flora of Hazelcrest, who was riding with Hansen, were killed.

FCC RECONVENES F-M BROADCAST HEARINGS TODAY

Recess Marked by Rap at Television Drive.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—Hearings to determine whether frequency modulation, radio's newest marvel, shall be made a regular, as opposed to experimental service, will be reopened tomorrow before the Federal Communications commission.

Resumption of the examination of this new static free broadcasting technique follows an Easter recess during which the FCC announced suspension of its own order permitting limited sponsorship of television, effective Sept. 1. The FCC ordered further television hearings beginning April 8 to determine whether the Radio Corporation of America and its subsidiaries are unduly retarding television thru their promotional activities.

R. C. A.'s current marketing campaign, the commission order stated, is regarded at variance with the intent of the FCC order of Feb. 29, which held that there was further need of technical improvement in television and which stipulated conditions for limited television sponsorships in the fall.

Connected with Advertising Drive.

The promotional and marketing plans to which the FCC objected, Washington radio observers asserted, were in connection with the extensive television advertising campaign which R. C. A. launched in New York coincident with the opening of the frequency modulation hearings last week.

Maj. Edwin H. Armstrong, inventor of F-M, testified that television promises little for the American public for years to come. He charged that television has been granted too many channels in the ultra high frequencies and that F-M deserves to have assigned to it at least one television channel, six megacycles wide. Television has more than 110 megacycles allocated to it, and frequency modulation 2.8 megacycles of which, according to Maj. Armstrong, only one megacycle appears suited at present for his wide swing type of F-M.

Maj. Armstrong further suggested that the television channel most suited for F-M was the one from 44-50 megocycle, on which R. C. A. and its subsidiary, National Broadcasting company, conduct their television service.

Television Adapters Offered.

This was met with the barrage of television advertising in New York publications by R. C. A. and stores selling its brand of receivers. The advertisments asserted that television, as a regular service, is at hand, that R. C. A. and NBC were projecting television networks and that receivers now are within the reach of the average American family.

A television adapter to be attached to a standard radio, the promotion indicated, is available for about $100. Prices of television sets are considerably higher.

Contending that public participation in television today is desirable only if the public understands that the art still is in the experimental state, and asserting that present day television receivers might become obsolete overnight, the FCC declared that promotional activities directed toward sales might react in the crystalization of transmission standards at their present levels.

The commission further raised the question of the possibility of one television manufacturer gaining an unfair advantage over competitors. This, it suggested, might cause competitors to abandon further research and experimentation and freeze the art at its present level of efficiency.

The position of R.C.A. and NBC with regard to frequency modulation is yet to be clarified before the commission. Five applications for F-M licenses have been made by these combined interests.

Narrow Band Rejected.

Cross-examination by R. C. A. counsel of Maj. Armstrong and other proponents of wide band F-M has indicated that the corporation favors a narrow band frequency modulation system. This type has been rejected by Maj. Armstrong and the F-M Broadcasters, Inc., of which W-G-N is a member, as unsuitable to preserve the inherent advantages of F-M.

The FMBI tomorrow will present its plan of allocation for increased frequency modulation. R. C. A.'s counsel announced last Friday that it had ready an allocation plan.

RAIL PASSENGER PAYS FOR A RIDE AFTER 20 YEARS

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway took up a ticket 20 years after the ride yesterday. A resident of Kinmundy, Marion county, boarded the train on three occasions at Salem, in the same county, 20 years ago, to ride to his home. There was no ticket agent at the point where he got on, and he expected to pay his fare to the conductor. But somehow the conductor didn't come around. The passenger worried about it all these years and finally walked into the Kinmundy ticket office to settle. A search thru old time tables disclosed that the fare between the two towns 20 years ago was 36 cents. The passenger who rode free paid up $1.08.

$960,632 IN NYA FUNDS SPENT IN CHICAGO IN 1939

The National Youth administration paid $960,632 in wages to 3,151 Chicago and Cook county youths during 1939, according to figures issued yesterday by Miss Mary Stuart Anderson, newly appointed NYA administrator for Illinois.

Total expenditures thruout the state for the year amounted to $2,551,311. During the four year history of the NYA, up to Jan. 1, the state's grand total added up to $7,814,346.

"The main effort of the NYA," said Miss Anderson, "has been to provide boys and girls with the opportunity for gaining good work habits and an appreciation of how to work with other people."

MORE THAN HALF OF URBAN RELIEF BILL PAID BY WPA

The $710,912,000 paid by the federal government in wages to Work Projects administration employés in 1939 accounted for 56 per cent of the total relief bill of $1,262,547,000 in 116 urban areas. This was shown yesterday in an article to be published in the 1940 yearbook of the International City Managers' association.

In 1938 WPA wages were 63 per cent of the total relief bill in those areas, which are cities or counties containing cities of 50,000 or more population.

The article also states that local governments spent $329,000,000 for general relief last year, or 26 per cent of the total bill. Aid for special groups of unemployables such as the blind took 17 per cent of the total, while private agencies spent slightly less than 1 per cent of the total. Relief expenditures by private agencies have dropped from 18 per cent of the total in 1933.

Aristotle on Art.

Discussions of modern art and of the Picasso show in particular go on, in spite of the fact that the great Picasso show has been gone from the Art institute these many weeks. The best and most helpful answer yet heard to scoffers at modern art is the excerpt from Aristotle quoted by Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, one of the Picasso owners asked to broadcast from the Art institute during the show. Aristotle, two thousand years ago, understood what artists today are just discovering.

"Artistic creation springs from the formative impulse and the craving for emotional expression," he said. "Of course essentially the form of art is an imitation of reality; it holds the mirror up to nature. There is in man a pleasure in imitation, apparently missing in lower animals. But the aim of art is to represent, not the outward appearance of things, but their inward significance, for this, and not the external mannerism, is true reality.

* *

The Aristotle quotation, which Mrs. Goodspeed came upon while re-perusing the philosopher during a recent Arizona holiday was repeated in a group discussing art at, properly enough, the Arts club. Charles G. Shaw, nephew of George Bernard Shaw and one of the artists whose work is hanging in the current show at the Arts club, repeated a neat quotation from Plato [the Philebus, section 51]:

I will try to speak of the beauty of shapes, and I do not mean, as most people would think, the shape of living figures, or their limitations in painting, but I mean straight lines and curves and the shapes made from them, flat or solid, by the lathe, ruler, and square, if you see what I mean. These are not beautiful for any particular reason or purpose, as other things are, but are always by their very nature beautiful, and give pleasure of their own quite free from the itch of desire; and colors of this kind are beautiful, too, and give similar pleasure.

Versifying Desk Clerk.

The other day Miss Virginia Willis found a little verse in her mailbox at her apartment hotel, 240 East Delaware place, left by the desk clerk instead of the usual telephone call report:

To all who care, this day be it known,

Cuff Notes.

You now can get Americana in Verse on which Ogden Nash's and Newman Levy's nonsense are recited to music. The Strange Case of the Pleasing Taxi Driver, Mrs. Marmaduke Moore, and Rain are some of the titles. . . . Clifton Webb, who sits in a wheel chair nightly at the Selwyn in The Man Who Came to Dinner, sits in front of an easel afternoons at the studio of Mrs. Howard Ellis, painting a portrait. . . . If you register at the Congress without luggage you will be supplied, if you are a man, with middy pajamas, toothbrush, and comb, free of charge, also shaving cream. No razor, however, for if you were given a razor and decided to cut your throat, the hotel would be liable! Luggageless women are supplied with nightgown, toothbrush, and comb. . . . On March 18, 1940, there was filed in the Circuit court of Cook county as case No. 40 C 2540 a proceeding to change the name of the petitioner Paul V. Sitt to Paul V. Bottum. [Relayed by Walter B. # Concert Proves Grace Moore's Artistic Growth

BY CECIL SMITH.

A large Easter afternoon audience filled Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon to hear Grace Moore in her first appearance with Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The concert was the second of three special Sunday afternoon programs designed to present prominent singers with the orchestra.

Nowadays Miss Moore seems to grow artistically and vocally from one performance to the next. For some years she has been one of the most compelling personalities in the American musical scene. But the Grace Moore who sang yesterday is simply not the same singer we knew five years ago at the height of her motion picture reclame, and she has even gained in artistic stature since she sang "Louise" with the Chicago City Opera company last fall.

Her voice has grown in volume, without sacrificing any of its warmth and luminousness. The upper middle register, especially, has taken on an added power and projection which she will need next year if she realizes her plan to sing in "Tosca" and "The Love of Three Kings." She is becoming a dramatic soprano, and a very effective one.

Miss Moore began her part of the program with the "Air de Lia" from Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigue." Her performance was good not only because it was tonally secure and beautiful, but because she combined personal imagination with sweeping lyric continuity. She seems to have inherited Mary Garden's gift for penetrating into the meaning of the words she sings; as with Miss Garden, the words often reach the audience as something to be fully understood for the first time.

From this point of view the Jewel Song from Gounod's "Faust" was particularly interesting. There was no trill; the scales did not ripple; in one instance new notes were invented for the occasion. But Marguerite was there, with her surprise at discovering the casket of jewels, even tho Miss Moore wisely disdained all artifices of pantomime. She showed us that the text, dulled by the repeated babblings of more fluent and less perceptive singers, can still be meaningful, and that the expressive value of the music is greatly heightened when the text is allowed to make sense.

There are few operatic singers in America with an innate talent for dramatic music. Nature intended Miss Moore to be a prima donna, and she is likely to do more for the cause of opera in the next decade than a dozen money raising campaigns.

Aside from his considered accompaniments for Miss Moore, Dr. Stock conducted the overture to Auber's "The Dumb Girl of Portici," the Dohnanyi suite, opus 19, Enesco's first "Rumanian Rhapsody," and excerpts from Berlioz' "The Damnation of Faust." In addition to the arias noted above, Miss Moore sang "Un bel dì," from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," Duparc's "Phidylé," and songs by Roger Quilter and Albert Hay Malotte.

The orchestra's final Sunday afternoon concert will take place on April 7, when Dorothy Maynor, Negro soprano, will make her Chicago début.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Miller (Odessa Schipfer), who were married Saturday afternoon in Christ church chapel, Winnetka. The bride, the eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Schipfer, of Winnetka, wore the gown in which her grandmother, Mrs. Paul C. Remington of Bismarck, N. D., was married. After a wedding trip to Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Miller will be at home on the north side. He is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller, also of Winnetka.

Fashion Bundles Up in Furs and Keeps Faith with Easter

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Downtown and suburban churches alike had their share of the smartly costumed Easter paraders yesterday. The crowd of spectators and worshipers was perhaps most noticeable at the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Both before and after services traffic in the streets moved by inches around the Fourth church, but there was a small traffic jam on the sidewalk when the junior Ross J. Beattys and their little daughter, the William A. Littles and their little boy, and the Gilbert H. Robinsons and little Gibby met on the corner across from the church. The three children were in perambulators. Mrs. Beatty wore a fur coat with a muff to match, a black hat, and mustard color gloves and frock.

A family group that had to walk in sections was that of the Robert M. Adamses. First came Mrs. Adams, in a mink coat and a tiny flower hat; Subdeb Kyle, also in a flower hat and a brown fur coat, which wasn't mink, however, and tall young Bob. Mr. Adams and the younger daughter, in navy blue, followed as they walked home after attending St. James' Episcopal church.

Mrs. Clay Judson was one who chose a winter hat in place of a new spring one, and very cozy she looked, too, in an opossum hat and coat. Her daughter, Alice Clay, was with her, charming in black and blue.

Crowd of 3 Sees Arrrivals at St. Chrysostom's.

One British looking Nanny and her two little charges on roller skates comprised the only crowd present to watch the worshipers arrive at St. Chrysostom's in North Dearborn parkway. The church was filled as usual, the preferred ticket holders entering at the small north door and hurrying to get in out of the cold.

The most effective young couple seen at the church was Mr. and Mrs. Winfield T. Durbin II. She was one of the few to brave the elements in a strictly spring weight coat and dress. Her thin wool coat of blue was topped with a scarf of silver fox. Her hat was a confection of flowers in spring colors tied with a veil covered with yellow, pink, and blue dots. Mr. Durbin wore a high silk hat with his correct morning clothes and Chesterfield.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey made no concessions to winter, for she wore only a pair of fox furs over a stunning tailored suit of gray. Her tiny hat was covered with cherries, and her corsage was a large green orchid.

Orchid Corsages Frozen in Biting Easter Air.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey were among the many from St. Chrysostom's who went on to the Casino breakfast. Miss Sally Perry was another. She arrived at the church with her brother, Brewster Perry. Both were active dodging photographers. Miss Perry wore gardenias with her Persian lamb coat to the services, but changed to orchids for the party at the Casino. This was a wise choice, for most orchid corsages were frozen if exposed too long to the biting air.

Mrs. Solomon B. Smith, less energetic than Miss Perry, preferred holding her brown suede bag before her face to discourage cameramen. Mrs. Smith was wearing a long sporty looking nutria coat and a tiny flowered hat of pinky beige. Her sister, Mrs. William M. Collins Jr., clung to her warm mink coat and decorated its lapel with a fetching bouquet of daffodils and freesia.

Wedding Plans Hold Interest of Many Families

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first crocus may be somewhat shy about coming forth this chilly spring but the weather is no deterrent to romance. Wedding plans are of prime importance in many homes.

Invitations are going in the mail today to the marriage reception of Miss Carol Bush and Frederick Latham Emeny at 5 o'clock on Monday afternoon, April 15, at the Racquet club. The reception will be a small one, but the marriage at 4:30 o'clock is to be smaller still, with only the families and out-of-town guests present. It will take place in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church, which seats 40 persons. The Rev. Mr. Stone will officiate.

Bridegroom to Arrive for Prenuptial Parties.

Mr. Emeny is coming from Cleveland to spend next week-end with Miss Bush and her mother, Mrs. William H. Bush, and to attend the first of the many parties planned for him and his fiancée. The Roger Q. Whites are giving a dinner on Friday night. The junior George M. Silverthornes will give one on Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Graham—he always is called "Hick"—are giving a luncheon next Sunday at their home in Glenview.

At a tea given yesterday at their home in Elder lane, Winnetka, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Taylor announced the engagement of their daughter, Virginia, to William Bradley Walrath Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Walrath of Evanston. The wedding is planned for the autumn.

A combination Easter and birthday present that Miss Joeine Norcott received yesterday was an engagement ring from Michael Walter Gradle, son of Walter Gradle of Highland Park. Miss Norcott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Osborn Marshall Norcott, gave a family party at home yesterday to celebrate both the birthday and the engagement announcement.

Miss Mary Hoyne Bride of Canadian.

Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Lawrence Hoyne announce the marriage last Thursday of their daughter, Mary Williams, to Archibald Trew Olmsted, son of Mrs. Ingersoll Olmsted and the late Dr. Olmsted of Hamilton, Ont. The wedding took place at the Hoyne home, 428 Oakdale avenue, with a reception following.

Mr. Olmsted and his bride will be at home in Hamilton after April 15.

Winnetkans will be welcoming the bride of Alfred Brittain Jr. on April 15 when Mr. Brittain and the new Mrs. Brittain return from their wedding trip. The former Ardelle Melin, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Melin of Lindstrom, Minn., and Mr. Brittain were married last Saturday in Minneapolis.

The ceremony took place at noon in St. John's Lutheran church, the Rev. Lyle Burns officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Melin, the bride's brother and sister-in-law, were the only attendants. Mr. Brittain and his bride will visit her parents at their winter home in Asheville, N. C., before returning to Winnetka.

Bettie-Jean Seymour Will Be April Bride.

For the third time in two years the Frederick P. Seymours are making plans for a wedding in the family. The bride this time is their daughter, Miss Bettie-Jean Seymour. She and H. William Melum, son of the Helmer Melums of River Forest, will be married on April 6 at the First Congregational church of Oak Park.

The bride will have her sisters, Mrs. Donald H. Koehler and Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton, as matrons of honor. The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, the Rev. Albert Buckner Coe officiating.

Mrs. Rush C. Hussey arrived at home last night from Pensacola, Fla., where she attended the marriage on March 2 of her son, Theodore Carlyle Alexander, to Miss Frances Till. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will live in Pensacola.

Vassar Alumnae Will Greet Dr. MacCracken.

A record turnout of Vassar alumnae is expected at a luncheon the Chicago and North Shore Vassar clubs are giving today at the Chicago Athletic association for Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar. The luncheon will be an especially interesting meeting because of an exhibit of "What They're Doing," which will include samples of the vocations and avocations of Vassar graduates.

Dr. MacCracken will be the house guest of Mrs. Sylvanus George Lee, president of the Chicago alumnae. He will be the especial guest at a dinner the Bertram Cahns will give tonight at their "House of Day After Tomorrow" in Lake Forest.

The Chapel Guild of the Cenacle is bringing its Lenten series of lectures to a close with a recital by two artists of the Chicago City Opera company, Miss Virginia Haskins and Robert Ringling. They will be heard at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Women's Athletic club. Mrs. Henry C. Murphy, president of the guild; Mrs. John L. Kellogg and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon are giving luncheons before the concert.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Hollywood, Cal., March 24.—Madeleine Carroll can't wait to get back to Paris, where her husband-to-be is a French political biggie. . . . Her ex, Philip Ashley, will wed Lady Furness, sister of Gloria Vanderbilt. . . . Al Jolson may be carrying a torch for Ruby, but he's buying presents for Gloria Cook, gorgeous brunette dancer. . . . Tony Martin is due here April 6 to set up bachelor quarters, if he can tear himself away from that blonde and lovely John Robert Powers' model. . . . After Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh complete their road tour of "Romeo and Juliet," they plan to organize a permanent stock company in Hollywood. . . . Bobby Crawford is quitting the movie agency business to return to Tin Pan Alley. . . . Ann Sheridan's new honey, Bill Lundigan, is not from Harvard; he's a Syracuse orange man.

Whether Orson Welles, after his divorce is final, weds Dolores Del Rio, after her divorce is final, is anybody's guess, but they're very much in love. . . . Ten year difference in ages will not interfere. . . . I doubt if Charlie Chaplin can "sneak" preview "The Dictator" for at least six weeks. . . . He was doing retakes with Reginald Gardiner yesterday and Chaplin hasn't completed the music yet. . . . Zorina back from Sun Valley, where Zanuck previewed her latest picture and raved over it. . . . She takes off for the east in a week. . . . Mel Shauer, Rosita Moreno's hubby, back from Wall street with the dough to finance three Fibber McGee and Molly pictures. . . . Alan Jones will warble in "Boys from Syracuse," the Ritz Brothers' starrer at Universal. . . .

The Bob Howards [she was Andrea Leeds] expect Sir Stork. . . . Ditto the Arturo Godoys [he's the guy who kissed Joe Louis]. . . . Herbert Bayard Swope's lad, John, is dating Kay Aldridge. . . . You can get odds from the Hollywood younger colony that Lois is not 15 years young, too, but maybe they're catty. . . . Front page pictures of Lois, published in local papers, created amazed gasps. . . . Jane Frazee of the sister team has Arnold Kunody selling love insurance to himself.

David Oliver Selznick had himself quite a season: He "discovered" three new stars in a row, Vivien Leigh, Ingrid Bergman, and Joan Fontaine. . . . Altho I think this column spotted Miss Fontaine first. . . . I can't believe that Wendy Barrie and Elsie Janis are having a feud in their Republic flicker. . . . Kay Francis, who turned in such a grand job in "It's a Date," continues to date with Louis Bromfield. . . . Tom Brown insists he'll hie to the altar with Ann Nagel [Ross Alexander's widow] when his divorce from Natalie Draper becomes final May 2. . . .

As predicted in this space, Judith Barrett, Cliff Edwards' ex, is now Mrs. Lin Howard. . . . Wonder if C. S. [Seabiscuit] Howard ever forgave his new daughter-in-law for rooting against the Biscuit in the $100,000 race? . . . Bonita Granville and Rand Brooks are running a supertemperature. . . . Lana Turner, George Murphy, and Linda Darnell all east bound. . . . Ditto the Jack Bennys, who leave on April 15.

Ona Munson, the Belle Watling of G. W. T. W., is flirting with San Franciscan Raymond Burr. . . . Aside to the readers: Frank Capra would like to find out who was the original "John Doe" and how the law came to recognize J. D. as the synonym for an unknown defendant. . . . Warner's plan to ballyhoo the Knute Rockne picture by holding anniversary services for him at the studio March 31 [the 9th anniversary]. . . . Well-l-l!

Igor Stravinsky, 57, Noted Composer, Is Wed in Boston

Boston, Mass., March 24 (AP).—The marriage of Igor Stravinsky, 57 years old, Russian composer, to Vera de Bosset Sudeikine in Bedford two weeks ago was disclosed today. They are residing in Boston where Stravinsky will conduct the Boston symphony orchestra this week.

Stravinsky has an appointment at Harvard university as Charles Eliot Norton lecturer in poetry. He first met his bride 20 years ago when they were introduced by Serge Diaghileff, so-called "father of the modern ballet."

Gun Bought Grant

By Luke Short

[Copyright, 1940, By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by his enemy, Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The governor offers Sam full pardon of all the crimes accredited to him if he will persuade Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of his canyons. Sam accepts on his own high terms of $25,000 in addition to full pardon. He gets a job on Drury's ranch and has a run-in with Drury's worthless son, Steve. Instead of firing Sam, Matt accepts his advice about reforming Steve by giving him a small stake and making him get out on his own; and he also accepts Sam's advice about making his pretty but spoiled daughter, Celia, take over the responsibilities of running the house. Steve, in a huff, goes down to the town saloon and gets into a crooked poker game with Sam Bales, ending up the big loser and having to go into partnership with Bales, ostensibly to raise horses, tho Bales' scheme is to get young Steve to obtain the canyon grant from his dad and double-cross the governor. Celia has a run-in with Matt and leaves home. Sam, investigating the canyon, is captured by Bales and his men. They steal his gun, tie him up, and leave him. Sam finally gets loose and goes back to town and is arrested for the murder of Steve Drury. The gun with his initials on it is found near the murdered man. Matt is determined to have Sam hanged, but his foreman, Pearly, convinced of Sam's innocence, resigns and visits Sam in jail and then goes on a private investigation. At Steve's funeral, Matt begs Celia to return home, but she refuses. She then gets a job in a restaurant.

INSTALMENT XIX.

ESCAPE.

Celia studied Pearly's face, and he avoided her eyes.

"It's hard for me to believe that you quit dad because you think Sam Teacher didn't kill Steve."

"That'll do for an excuse, sure."

"That's the first wrong guess you ever made, Pearly," said Celia.

"It ain't even a guess," Pearly said quietly.

Celia's lip lifted in contempt. "I hope they hang him," she said in quiet passion.

Pearly shifted his feet and didn't say anything. Celia told him about her job, and Pearly grunted approval.

"Come and help me move, Pearly," she invited him.

"This afternoon," Pearly said. "Frank's goin' to dinner in a minute."

"Frank who?"

"What if he is? Are you watching the shop?"

"The saddle shop?"

Pearly nodded. "Bought it this mornin'. I got to do something, and I know more about saddles than anything else, includin' cows and murders."

They talked a minute until Frank Baker, the harness maker, stepped out. Celia went on upstreet and Pearly walked back into the shop. He shut the door and locked it and pulled the blind. Then he went back thru the shop, past the harness hanging on long wooden pegs, past the saddles thrown over saw horses, past the benches littered with tools at the rear. The shop was cool, smelling of leather and grease and dust and horses.

Against the rear wall there was a trap door in the floor. Pearly opened it and went into the cellar.

A lantern was sitting on the third step from the bottom, and he lighted it, then went back into the cellar. Carefully, then, amid the clutter of barrels, boxes, bottles, old stoves, old magazines, old lumber that littered the cellar, he started his business. His back against the front wall, he counted off 16 paces toward the stairs. Then he did it again, to make sure. After that, he marked the place on the wall next to the jail. Satisfied, he took off his vest, put his watch and the lantern on a barrel head, then picked up a pick axe, a sledge, a cold chisel, and a shovel which were at the foot of the stairs.

He went to work then, prizing out a hole in the stone foundation of the shop. He was working on the wall which was next to the jail.

For Pearly had learned one thing in his visit to Sam Teacher. The cell Sam was in was 16 paces from the boardwalk on the street. And it had an earthen floor.

* * *

In the week that Sam Teacher had been in jail, the only thing that happened was his preliminary hearing. It was short and to the point. He was charged with first degree murder, and his plea was not guilty. It was put before the preliminary hearing by a long-haired drunken lawyer who had been given the case and who could not stay awake long enough to get his whole story.

The outlook was hopeless, he could see. He already had been tried, condemned to death and hanged in the minds of these people. His single friend, Pearly Gates, had not been in for five days, and Sam remembered bitterly of his telling Pearly about the governor's business. Either Pearly had gone back to the Star 22, or he had lied to Sam about quitting, or he had let the sentiment of the town scare him away. Of all the things that had happened to him since he had come to this country, Pearly's desertion was the most bitter. But why had he done it? Had he been convinced, in spite of what he had seen, that Sam murdered young Drury?

His temper wore thin during that week, and he could not eat. Once he threw his food in the face of the jailer, and two deputies had come back and beat him up. They did a good job, too; he didn't wake up for a morning. But even that activity was a relief. The other inmate of the jail, a loud mouthed, bragging puncher accused of rustling cattle, spent all his waking moments riding Sam, telling him he was sure to be convicted, taunting him for being a yellow bellied bushwacker, until Sam was nearly crazy.

He smoked cigaret after cigaret, trying to shut his ears to the yapping of the puncher. Finally, when he could stand it no longer, he would get up and grab hold of the bars and call the puncher every name he could think of, his voice shaking with rage. The puncher would laugh at him and begin all over again.

He was lying on his cot just after supper this evening, watching the night steal in thru his window, blotting out the square of dusk. He was waiting for resignation to come, but it would not. He kept studying the mortar of the stone walls, the bars, the ceiling, thinking of escape. But any escape now was impossible under the eyes of the puncher. His every move was watched, commented on.

It was quiet here now, but his mind was racing. Suddenly, there came to his ears the sound of a muffled tapping. He propped himself up on his elbow, listening.

The puncher, two cells away, was watching him in the dusk.

"Lie down, mister," the puncher jeered. "Better start gettin' used to a space six by three. You'll be in one the rest of your life."

Sam said, "Die in the night, will you?" and lay down again. But there was still the tapping, and now it was getting more and more distinct. He got off the cot and walked to the window to listen. It was so muffled that he knew the puncher could not hear it. He was standing there, his head turned to listen, when he heard the sudden rustle of the dirt slipping. Swiftly, he looked around him, and saw the dirt of the floor, about three feet square, sag some more and then slip and drop.

"Sam," he heard a voice say. The puncher heard it too. He lunged off his cot to listen.

Sam dropped to his knees and peered down into the hole. There was a lantern down there, and Pearly Gates holding it, looking up at him. He was six feet below, Sam judged.

"Come on!" Pearly said. "Hurry it up!"

Sam laughed now, a low unpleasant laugh. "You like company so damn well, fella, I'll be givin' you some pretty soon."

A pencil of light from the corridor door appeared on the floor, and Sam slipped down into the hole and dropped. He found himself in the tunnel, and Pearly, swearing darkly, was ahead of him.

"Hurry!" Pearly said, crawling on his hands and knees.

The cellar, Sam saw in his brief glance around, was almost full of the loose dirt that Pearly had brought out of the tunnel. "Horses out in the alley!" Pearly said. "Drag it, son. We ain't got much time!"

"We got enough for me to do a little errand?" Sam said grimly, "Give me your gun."

"But—"

"Gimme it!"

Pearly, as he ran across to the stairs, unbuckled his shell belt and gun and gave them to Sam. They mounted the stairs and at the head of them Sam said, "I'll meet you in the alley."

"Don't be a damn fool!" Pearly said hotly. "Come——." But Sam was gone.

Once in the street, he raced the 10 steps to the sheriff's office, lunged through the cell block door and hauled up, his gun leveled. Inside, Sheriff Lovejoy and the two jailers were trying with nervous hands to fit the key of his cell in the lock.

"Stay right put!" Sam said quietly.

"There he is now!" the puncher bawled.

Lovejoy said bitterly, "You damn little killer, did you come back to beet us?"

Good Morning!

Mickey Rooney does all right as young Tom Edison—but, personally, I like him better as Andy Hardy. To me the Edison rôle just didn't seem to fit. However, that's only my notion. I've read reviews by able critics who feel that as young Tom, young Mickey gives the outstanding performance of his career.

The people in the cast who really intrigued me were Fay Bainter as Mrs. Edison [I should think ANY man would like to have her around!] and George Bancroft—too seldom seen of recent months—as Edison Sr., AND J. M. Kerrigan as the old station master. Here are three finely etched characterizations.

The picture details incidents in the life of a misunderstood problem child who was to become one of the world's greatest men. "Oft told boyhood reminiscences" form the basis for the action. And so you see young Tom tinkering in his basement with strange ingredients which do strange things. Utterly unmalicious, he is, nevertheless, a community menace, for his concoctions usually explode or otherwise act in terrifying fashion. . . . Your hair will quite stand on end during the train episode when it is discovered that the candy, magazine, peanut, and cold drinks agent—Tom—has in his nonchalant possession a bottle containing—NITROGLYCERIN!

But, by the time the production ends that "addled" Edison boy stands high in the esteem of his townfolk, for his maneuvers with a mirror and lamps have produced light by which could be performed, in the nick of time, an operation that saved his mother's life, while his aptness at the Morse code has prevented a train wreck. . . .

The film has a laugh or two, a tear or two, and considerable suspense. It has been well staged and directed and, as a whole, takes its place in the world as excellent and informative entertainment.

History of North Shore Communities to Be Told

The history of north shore communities since Indian treaty days will be traced by George S. Dalgety of Evanston, formerly a member of the executive staff of Northwestern university, at a luncheon in the Union League club tomorrow. North shore members of the club will have a reunion at the meeting.

Jewish Women to Hold Conference on Religion

The Conference of Jewish Women's Organizations will hold its annual conference on religion this afternoon at the K. A. M. temple, 50th street and Drexel boulevard. Speakers will be Alexander A. Liveright, executive director of the Jewish Vocational Service and Employment center; Miss Lillian Herstein, only woman executive board member of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Mrs. Ralph Reis, club leader; and Mrs. Louis Binstock, wife of the rabbi of Temple Sholom. Mrs. G. George Fox will be in charge.

* *

College Club Party.

A luncheon and bridge party that was to have been held today at the Chicago College club has been postponed to next Saturday.

The Housewife

One of the cleverest items we've come across in a month of Sundays is a neat, smart little chromium plated topper for liquor bottles. It takes the place of the bottle cork and at the same time acts as a dispenser. Simply tilt the bottle and the top tips up out of the way. Stand the bottle up again and a little ball falls into place, closing the aperture. The balls on top of the dispenser corks come in a variety of colors. Packages hold 12, four, or two dispensers. They fit all average size pint and quart bottles that have corks. Try these tricky little helpers and you'll wonder why some one didn't think of them before. EDITH WEIGLE.

Fashion Wraps Up in Furs and Keeps Easter

hanging down the back. It is more unusual to see a mother and daughters combination of worshipers than father and sons, but Charles Y. Freeman and his sons, Charles Jr. and Dodge, come to St. Chrysostom's together, as is their habit. The William D. Coxes brought their young sons, Billy and Nicky, to the services.

Mrs. Baur Comes with Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever.

Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever came together, the former in a black hat winged in red breast feathers and a matching kid bag of red; the latter in a white straw sailor, veiled in white, and a three-quarter length coat of silver fox.

Mrs. Frank B. Johnston Jr., the former Nancy Otis, looked springlike in a blue reefer and a jockey cap type of hat in blue and white checks. The Johnstons brought with them an attractive young couple from New York, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Dummer. Mrs. Dummer wore a short fox jacket over navy blue and a little blue straw hat.

Mother and Daughter Wear Spring Hats and Furs.

Mrs. William A. Ragland [Edith Mason] and her daughter, Graziella Polacco, wore fur coats, handsome corsages and new spring hats as they hastened north in Lake Shore drive, escorted by Mr. Ragland, silk hatted and swinging a stick. There were no cold feet in store for pretty Mrs. John L. Irving, who joined the paraders in fleece lined knee boots of cherry red. She kept her hands warm in a silver fox muff; her coat was of black caracul.

Mixed in with the impressive array of limousines that drew up before the Casino to disgorge breakfast guests were numerous inexpensive sedans and one station wagon. The Ballard Moores descended from the wagon. Many of the women arriving at the club brought along extra wraps. Undoubtedly some of them would like to have carried away as extra hats the enchanting ones used as decorations on some of the luncheon tables in the ballroom. Mrs. John C. Murphy, who was in charge of the party, wore a large floppy brimmed hat of straw, portent of summer, but over her spring frock was the inevitable coat of fur; mink, in this case.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk's tiny hat of flowers in shades of pink looked good enough to eat. She pinned her Easter orchids on her silver fox muff. The Ambrose Cramers and her brother, Arthur Meeker Jr., arrived together, Mr. Meeker in a warm coat collared in Persian lamb fur.

Mrs. Herbert Bradley Is One Wearing Camellias.

Mrs. Herbert Bradley was among the many wearing camellias. Mrs. Frank Hibbard tied her tiny green hat with a vivid red veil. Miss Elizabeth McCormick wore a hat that was lavishly trimmed with ostrich feathers. Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr. chose an Easter bonnet of variegated flowers. Her daughter, Mrs. Aldis J. Browne Jr., who was acting as the family chauffeur when the Brownes and the Ermingers arrived at the Casino, wore a more tailored hat of navy, trimmed with white grosgrain ribbon.

The Drake and the Ambassadors also had large and gay luncheon parties, with the smartest of Easter finery in evidence. Mrs. Hugh Petersen in a black and white printed frock and coat and a white flower hat was one of the many lunching in the International club at the Drake. The John Alden Morgans had cocktails at the Drake and then went to the Pump room for luncheon. She was wearing a fur coat and a tiny nosegay of flowers on her pretty head.

The classic spring combination of black and white predominated among the women who worshiped at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest. Mrs. Laurance H. Armour's blond hair was offset by a small white flower hat and she had pinned a small corsage of stephanotis on the silver fox collar of her black coat. Mrs. Gerald V. Hollins Jr. was another blonde who wore one of these small white flower hats to good effect, and Mrs. Farley Hopkins and her subdeb daughter, Shirley, also combined black and white.

Skiier's Plaster Cast Joins Easter Parade.

Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr.'s somber winter costume was enlivened both by a small flower hat of many colors and by a cleverly decorated plaster cast on her right leg. She had been injured skiing at Sun Valley a fortnight before. Barsis, the cartoonist, whose book on skiing, "Bottoms Up," recently was published, had adorned the plaster cast with dozens of tiny figures having skiing difficulties.

Miss Judy Butler, looking quite herself again after her recent accident, and her sister, Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston, were an attractive pair. Mrs. Winston Elting also was charming in a small feather hat just a shade more golden than the color of her fur coat. With her mink coat Mrs. Philip D. Armour wore a hat of a deeper gold, winged Viking fashion with two large feathers of the same color.

Young Girls Appear Rashly in Spring Coats.

A few teen-aged girls who rashly wore pastel colored spring coats supplied the gayest note in the throngs which attended the Winnetka Congregational church. Miss Martha and Miss Nancy Pirie, twin subdeb daughters of the Gordon Piries, came with their mother. They were dressed alike in tan camel's-hair coats and matching overseas caps each trimmed with a long feather.

Miss Susanna Allen was smart in a black coat striped in green and red plaid with a wide brimmed hat of the same fabric. Miss Celia Coit wore another striking outfit, a fishnet turban of the same shade of pink as her corsage of rubrum lilies, with a gray suit and silver fox fur.

Mrs. Carl Von Ammon was lovely in an untrimmed black toque, and so was Mrs. Christopher Janus, in a white flower trimmed hat. Miss Mary Stewart wore a particularly dashing costume, in view of the freezing temperature. It was a short silver fox jacket over her blue and white print dress, with a white pique hat, and a corsage of gardenias. Miss Lucy Lytton's rust colored coat matched her wide brimmed felt hat trimmed in brown, and a corsage of many colored sweet peas was pinned to her shoulder.

The young people who attended services at St. James' inclined toward sports outfits. Nancy Green was smart in a tweed coat and felt hat. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Dwight Green, wife of the Republican candidate for governor. Mrs. Green had a white corsage on her fur coat to match the white flowers that covered the crown of her small hat.

Another young person whose costume added a bright touch was Carol Gardner in a plaid coat of blended blues and rosy shades and a hat which was a simple halo. She was with her father, Albert S. Gardner, and her brother, William A. Gardner II.

Miss Helen Gurley, leading a pair of Sealyhams, was among those promenading in Michigan avenue after church. So were the Eugene Swigarts. Miss Gurley wore a dress of pale brown under a beaver coat. Her hat and galoshes were brown, and she wore a corsage of violets and gardenias. Mrs. Swigart wore a white hat, ornamented with a white bird, and a white corsage pinned to her mink muff. Her coat was of the same short haired fur.

The Twosome Fashion Idea

WOMEN'S AND MISS' BLOUSE AND SKIRT.

The twosome idea is both a fashion and a budget favorite. The duet of patterns today offers an attractive ensemble. The blouse may be dressy or tailored, of sheers or heavier materials, silk or cotton. It has shirtwaist lines and neat details. The skirt is a simple flared model that "goes with everything" and spells figure flattery. Make it of woolen, silk, or cotton.

Style No. 3234 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved, fitted version; 2⅛ yards for long sleeved yoke blouse.

Style No. 3106 is designed for waist sizes 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, and 34. Size 28 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for short length skirt; 3¾ yards for floor length model cut on bias.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

City's Churches Crowded with Easter Throngs

BY MARCIA WINN.

Easter, Christendom's day of triumphant joy, drew Chicagoans churchward yesterday by the hundreds of thousands.

Notwithstanding the cold, worshipers thronged into vaulted cathedral, small stone church, and humble shelter alike to proclaim anew their belief in an eternal life of which Jesus of Nazareth first gave tangible conception 1,911 years ago.

"Immortality cannot be handled as a separate problem, but belongs to a group of fundamental truths which hang together," the Rev. Dudley Stark, rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, told his congregation.

"These truths are the trustworthiness of God, the worth and dignity of the human soul and creative purpose. The presence of the living Christ in the world today represents reality in operation and makes those truths clear, and makes us sure we have a glorious personality, trust, and adventure thru Him that brings us an assurance of immortality."

Elsewhere ministers spoke of peace as well as immortality, voicing the fervent hope that the spirit of fellowship and forgiveness be not limited to the Easter season. Others cited the difference evident this year in Easter observances in the new and old worlds.

Thousands of Chicagoans went out into the cold of early morning to attend the Easter sunrise service in Soldiers' field. Thousands of others thronged to early mass in the Catholic churches. Holy Name cathedral was crowded at all times. It was filled to capacity at the noon service when the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, Catholic archbishop of Chicago, celebrated the solemn pontifical Easter mass.

Men, women, and children of Irish birth or descent gathered at the Hamilton hotel, 18 South Dearborn street, at 9 a. m. to march to St. Patrick's church, 718 Adams street, where the 10 a. m. mass honored the men who died for Ireland's freedom in the 1916 Easter week rebellion.

In the afternoon ten thousand children gathered at Columbus and Portage parks to hunt Easter eggs. Five hundred members of the Knights Templar, resplendent in uniforms and plumbed white hats, paraded on Michigan avenue; another 200 knights paraded on the northwest side. Later the commanderies assembled in Medinah temple for their annual Easter service.

Chicago's first Easter baby, incidentally, was a girl. It was born at midnight to Mrs. Lena Mustoccio, 905 South Hoyne avenue, in Mother Cabrini hospital.

Dessert pancakes must be dainty, feathery, fluffy morsels or they'll not be welcomed after the dinner course has been cleared from the table. They must be tiny, too, and preferably filled with fruit or topped with a fruit sauce, so that they seem very unlike pancakes.

Dessert pancakes aren't all as elaborate as crêpes suzette, the rolled French pancakes which usually are served blazing. Most of them are rolled, however, because they look prettier that way and not so pancakey.

Swedish Dessert Pancakes.
[Serves Six.]

2 eggs
3 cups milk
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons sugar

Beat eggs and add other ingredients gradually, beating batter until smooth. This is a very thin batter, as it should be for thin and light dessert cakes. Bake small cakes on a griddle brushed with butter. Spread with jam while hot, roll up, and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve two or three small rolled cakes to a person.

The batter for French dessert pancakes is not quite so thin, but it is much thinner, at that, than batter for breakfast pancakes.

French Dessert Pancakes.
[Serves Four or More.]

2 eggs
1½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon orange extract or ½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar

Beat eggs until light. Add milk and flavorings. Combine salt, flour, and sugar, and beat liquid mixture into the combination, beating with rotary beater until batter is smooth. Drop batter by large spoonfuls onto a lightly buttered, heavy griddle, and cook until brown on one side. Turn and brown the other. Fold in quarters, or roll up and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve with sweetened, juicy, chopped fresh or canned fruit or a fruit sauce.

This same batter, often with the addition of rum flavoring, is used for crêpes suzette. Suzette sauce is the important part of this dessert.

Sauce for Crêpes Suzette.

¼ cup butter
½ cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
¼ cup brandy

Melt butter, add sugar, orange juice and peel, and heat gently until sugar is dissolved. Add the rolled pancakes, which may have been prepared ahead of time. Spoon sauce over them as they are reheated. Transfer to a hot platter, pour sauce over them, and carry to the table. Pour brandy over the pancakes and ignite. Spoon the burning sauce over the crêpes. Serve as soon as the flames die down.

Crocheted "Scatter" Rug

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There are a million and one places around the house in which to use attractive, crocheted "scatter" rugs. A shell stitch and a block design are the two patterns used for these two rugs. Boilproof and sunfast carpet warp is a favorite material for these articles. Red and white shades of carpet warp are combined to create the unusually attractive mottled effect in the rug of the shell design. Orange and white carpet warp, used double, makes the successful rug done in the block pattern.

For instructions in crocheting the shell rug and block rug, No. X-446, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Many a perfectly good cosmetic takes the kind of slandering that's difficult to fight because of the existence of that most baffling of human ailments, the allergy we hear so much about.

We were reminded of this the other day by a woman panning the life out of a manufacturer and all his works. His perfume, she said, was "dangerous poison." It made her skin break out like blazes.

Come to find out, the lady is a fine allergy sufferer. She has hay fever, she can't eat any one of a dozen foods most people can eat with impunity, and every time she wears a wool sweater she nearly goes mad with the skin irritation. The perfume in question she had used several times, each time rubbing it in to the skin, just below the lobe of each ear. And of course, what happened was that one of her many sensitivities reared its little head.

Her skin broke out because she is allergic to one of the ingredients of the scent—an ingredient that perhaps a hundred thousand other women could use every day in the year without suffering a bad reaction. To say that that perfume is a poison is as baseless as to say that strawberries are.

If your skin flares up, if you get the sniffles, or if you have any other unfavorable reaction from a cosmetic nowadays, chances are about thousand to one that you have an allergy.

Hostess Gowns Styled in Gay Check Taffeta

BY REA SEEGER.

House coats, hostess gowns and tea-gowns are telling competition for the dresses and costumes for any wardrobe. They're becoming more fascinating, more lovely with each new collection. New heart breakers of taffeta are going out as speedily as any of the newest hats and that's certainly a record.

House coats of gay checked taffeta are made like a pinafore around the waistline with side pockets and a back tied sash bow. The bodices are sleekly fitted to the figure, and boast a zipper closing. Crisp, clean appearing checked stuff of light and bright backgrounds with the contrast color in the crossed lines makes them ideal spring beauties and the price tags make you cheer.

For a bit more money there are the more sophisticated finds, also of barred or checked taffeta in small precise pattern. However there's nothing precise above the flare of the twelve yard circular skirt that accents the streamlined bodice with short sleeves! A zipper keeps the rib hugging bodice on the bodyline and the collar can be turned down in a flattering vee line if you wish.

But the most intriguing charm is the crackle and swish of the dress parade taffeta. These are the kind of house coats that lead a double life . . . for home decoration as well as informal dancing parties.

If you crave romance in your house costumes, see and succumb to the southern belles. Copied from the ruched, lovely creations in the pages of "Gone with the Wind," these new arrivals are fashioned of taffeta cut with a wide spreading skirt, seamed tightly over the figure-lines, trimmed with old fashioned fringed and double ruching along the hip and bodice line.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are a great many "tricks of the trade" with which an astute defender can make a declarer's lot very unhappy. Paradoxically enough, these are hoaxes which have a much better chance for success against a good than against a bad player. In today's hand, the object of a defender's play was to frighten the declarer away from his normal line of procedure, into the only alternate—a squeeze play [which the defender knew would not succeed]. This could not have been done if the declarer had not known enough to try for a squeeze.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 diamond | 1 heart | 2 no trump | Pass |
| 3 spades | Pass | 4 no trump | Pass |
| 5 no trump | Pass | 6 diamonds | Pass |
| 7 diamonds | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Needless to say, the bidding, particularly on North's part, was wildly optimistic. Not satisfied with his free jump bid over West's one heart, he later jumped again to four no trump. South could hardly be blamed, facing such powerful bidding, for contracting for a grand slam.

West opened the queen of hearts and, when declarer saw the dummy, he felt none too happy. It was immediately apparent that a successful spade finesse would be vital, and, further than that, if the opponents' trumps should fail to drop in two leads, disposition of South's fourth spade would have to be made unless the spades also broke 3-3.

Dummy's heart king won the first lead and two rounds, the ace and king of trumps, followed, West showing out on the second round. Dummy's ace of spades was then played, and a small spade returned toward the closed hand.

East had formed a very shrewd picture of South's hand and could see exactly what was coming. Declarer was marked with at least four spades from his bid and, whether or not he could utilize dummy's other heart honor for discarding purposes, would be obliged to take the spade finesse. There was nothing to lose, then, by presenting him with the spade queen gratuitously. It might very well throw him off on his "count" of the defenders' hands and force him to a losing line of play.

So East tossed the spade queen on the second lead of that suit, and the declarer was both pleased and disappointed. Since East had a trump left, it would be highly dangerous to lay down the spade jack with the object of ruffing the fourth spade with dummy's high nine of trumps. There was, however, an excellent line open if, as it appeared, West had the two remaining spades and [from his opening lead] the J-10 of hearts. In that event, he could be squeezed out of one suit stopper or the other, "easy as pie."

So declarer confidently drew trumps and went after the squeeze. His disgust at finding that East had "talked him out" of the winning line of play [leading the spade jack and ruffing the last spade] had to be seen to be appreciated.

A family day. Don't shirk responsibilities. Seven has always been considered a mystic number and those born on a seven date [7, 16 or 25], or who have a number seven birthpath or name, usually have some mystic quality in their natures. We find many poets and scientists in this group. Those born on today's date are facing a year of adjustments within the family circle. They can keep things running smoothly by adding to the comfort and entertainment of the home circle.

Spring Cleaning Is Essential to Loveliness, Too

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Granted that a number of modern women are aware the year 'round of the inner contribution to radiant clean skin and the feeling of well being, there is still a large majority who do not observe the modern technique of consuming enough roughage to keep the digestive tract clean. Along comes spring, with its sharpened daylight, and back from the mirror comes a face that often reminds its observer of a gray and chilling day.

Those sassafras tea, sulphur and molasses, and other purification rites of spring in the days that are gone had a meaning. Health, more than beauty, may have been the aim, but the value of spring tonicizing is the lesson passed on to us and from which we still may derive infinite benefit. Our modern way may be different. We may substitute fruit juices, vegetable juices, plenty of green vegetables in salad form or otherwise, but the intention is identical in its promotion of clearer skin and brighter eyes.

Ailing Alderman Still on Political Throne.

ice, has never deviated one inch in his loyalty to the people he plays politics with. When I reach the end of my career I'll be happy if people will say of me that I was loyal to the party as my friend and colleague, Mike Kenna, has been."

Lauds Brodie Candidacy.

Arvey then mentioned the candidacy of Coroner Brodie. "Col. Al Brodie has long been a faithful party worker," he said. "He joined the army during the war as a private and was a colonel when the war ended. He is 100 per cent soldier and 100 per cent Democrat to the unth degree [sic].

"And now," Arvey continued, "now that I've mentioned some instances of loyalty, I'd like to take my hair down, that is, if I had any, and give you a story about disloyalty.

"When the mayor and Pat Nash, that grand old man, and I, went to Springfield to aid in making up the Democratic slate, there was one man who had agreed to run as lieutenant governor. There was opposition to him—I might say stern, vicious opposition. But the mayor and Mr. Nash fought for him—Nash in spite of a bad cold that would have sent a younger man to bed.

Stelle's Objections Told.

"Finally the ticket was made up with that man for lieutenant governor and Hershey for governor. Louie Lewis was auditor. Then we told that man, John Stelle, how the ticket was going to be.

"He objected. He said he had never been friendly with Lewis, that they came from the same part of the state and he didn't want to see him get too big. He said to put John Martin on as auditor and it would be okay.

"So the mayor and Nash went back. Nash sat at that table with his nose running and his head inflamed and feverish. They talked and argued and finally the ticket was made up. John Stelle was lieutenant governor, Martin was auditor, and Lewis was congressman at large.

"The first one to come into our hotel room after that was John Stelle. He shook hands with Nash and said: 'I want to thank you. I knew you'd keep your word.' Nash said: 'I didn't promise. I just said I'd try. Now I'm going to rest a day, then I'll support the whole ticket.'"

Tells of Two Petitions.

"So Stelle himself took petitions. He got 50 signatures to the two he sent up to Chicago. His own nephew signed one, and they were notarized in Stelle's office. He signed two certificates of candidacy [now you can see why we want two]. One was sent to the secretary of state's office. The other we put in our vault at the Morrison hotel.

"Then the Garner-for-President entered the state. They showed this man something and promised to support his candidacy for governor. They managed to get the certificate of candidacy out of the secretary of state's office, and Stelle denied having signed one. He apparently had forgotten the other one, which we took out of our vault and published.

"And it is this man, of all people, who is now going up and down the state stirring up religious and racial strife at a time when all our energies should be devoted to keeping this country out of war in Europe and getting it into the clear open [sic]. But he's not running as a Democrat. He's doing the sort of thing the Democratic party has tried to stay away from—that the Republicans have done. The manly thing for him to have done if he didn't want to run on the ticket was to withdraw entirely."

Asks Support for Roosevelt.

Ald. Arvey concluded with a plea for support of President Roosevelt, "the first man to give the common people a voice in politics," and sat down.

Ald. Kenna motioned toward the musicians, who began playing. Joe said the campaign literature was ready, and Arvey and the others left.

The precinct captains went forward to get literature, for their workers. Most of the crowd put on coats and left. The hall began to look as it had at 2 o'clock, except that Ald. Kenna still sat staring straight ahead in his chair behind the table.

Most of the literature had been given out, and Kenna suddenly rose and walked down the aisle. Joe Clark and another man followed. Kenna went directly to an old model limousine at the curb, and he and Joe and the other man got in. They spoke to the chauffeur and he drove away.

When the open safety pin that little Wayne, 11 months old, snatched from his mother, Mrs. Stewart Cable of 4307 8th avenue, Rock Island, disappeared down his throat Saturday night, his parents ran with him to their car. They drove wildly thru the night and arrived at St. Luke's hospital here about 7:30 a. m. Sunday. A specialist from the hospital's department of peroral esophagy immediately performed bronchoscopy, and with no apparent trouble at all the open safety pin was added to St. Luke's collection of objects that should't be, but were, swallowed.

To facilitate development of the program, a general division within the college has been established.

During their first two years, students will take general courses. The courses are to be organized under the following titles: Verbal expression, history of civilization, biological science, physical science, social science, literature, and fine arts, philosophy and psychology.

A few minutes later he was found lying with his skull fractured beneath a living room window of his third floor flat at 1800 14th street. He died on the way to county hospital. His family said he had been despondent because he couldn't find work.

GALLOGLY, BACK IN PRISON, TELLS FEAR OF GUARDS

Rushed in Car from Texas to Georgia Penitentiary.

Atlanta, Ga., March 24 [Special].—Richard M. Gallogly, 30 year old heir of a wealthy Atlanta family who is under a life sentence for the 1928 thrill holdup slaying of a drug clerk, was returned to the Georgia state penitentiary today from Dallas, Tex. He escaped last October and fled to Texas, but lost a six months court fight against extradition.

Heavily manacled and accompanied by three state troopers, Gallogly arrived in Atlanta shortly before noon, following a virtual non-stop 1,000 mile circuitous trip from Texas by automobile. He was held for nearly an hour at the state patrol headquarters and then transferred to the Tatnall county state prison near Reidsville.

Tells Fear of Reprisals.

During his stay at patrol headquarters, Gallogly talked freely with reporters. Asked if he had any plans to continue his fight for freedom, Gallogly said:

"I've thought about the federal courts on a duress angle, but I don't know how far I can go. I can't say now just what I will do."

Gallogly told reporters he was afraid he had come back to a hell, explaining that he expects retaliation from prison guards and authorities because of his escape and because of his stories of mistreatment since his surrender last fall in Dallas to make a legal fight for freedom.

"If it isn't tougher this time, I'll be mistaken," he said.

"Gallogly will be treated just as any other prisoner—no better, no worse," Gov. E. D. Rivers told reporters.

Wife and Mother in Texas.

Gallogly said that his wife, Mrs. Vera Hunt Gallogly, former school teacher, and his mother, Mrs. Worth Yankey of Atlanta, remained in Dallas. He praised the treatment he received from Texas authorities.

In several appeals for pardon during the last five years, Gallogly has denied that he was involved in the actual killing of the drug clerk. He said he confessed to a part in the actual slaying to save his friend, George Harsh, from the electric chair, and that he had been promised clemency.

Gallogly and Harsh were students at Oglethorpe university and at the time of their conviction confessed to a series of holdups for the thrill of it. They also admitted killing a grocer during one of their escapades. Harsh is serving a life sentence.

Wed While in Prison.

Gallogly's romance with Vera Hunt developed while he was a trusty at a prison camp at Milledgeville. At this camp he was permitted unusual privileges, investigators disclosed.

Gallogly and Miss Hunt were permitted to marry last year while he was in an Atlanta hospital for examination by state appointed physicians in connection with an appeal for pardon on the claim he was suffering from tuberculosis.

After his pardon plea was denied, he escaped from two prison guards who were transferring him by automobile to the state prison. On that night his mother and wife were with him. Mrs. Yankey pleaded with him to abandon his escape plans, but his wife accompanied him to Texas.

Boy Hero Sounds Alarm; 80 Escape Fire in Church

Mt. Gilead, O., March 24 (AP).—Fire interrupted services in the Methodist church at nearby Edison today and sent 80 worshipers and the pastor fleeing, hymn books in hand, into the chill of a "white Easter." Richard Bollinger, a boy who saw flames on the roof while playing a block away, burst into the church shouting "fire." Finding the village bell rope broken after running to summon volunteer firemen, Richard climbed to the 35 foot belfry and rang the bell with the clapper. Church members salvaged the collection and carried out a piano just before the roof collapsed.

LONG DORMANT BACTERIA TAKEN FROM SEA FLOOR

Hints Life Survived for Million Years.

La Jolla, Cal., March 24 (AP).—Recovery from beneath the ocean floor of bacteria which possibly were in a state of suspended animation for more than 1,000,000 years was reported today by Sydney C. Rittenberg, research assistant of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Paradoxically, more aerobes than anaerobic bacteria were found at the greatest depth yet penetrated for bacteriological analysis of marine sediments. The former are bacteria which require oxygen, while anaerobic bacteria are capable of functioning in complete absence of free oxygen.

This discovery prompted Dr. Claude E. ZoBell, Scripps marine microbiology professor directing the research, to advance the suspended animation theory in seeking an explanation for the presence of aerobes in an environment where there is no free oxygen, and probably has been none for well over a million years.

Possibly Long Buried.

"It is highly improbable that they have been buried recently by earthquakes or other submarine seismic disturbances," Dr. ZoBell said, "and there is no evidence to indicate that these bacteria have been carried deep into the mud by burrowing animals.

"Therefore, it follows that unless these obligate [oxygen requiring] bacteria can respire in a manner not known to bacteriologists, they possibly have been buried in a state of suspended animation for a long, long time.

Went to Depth of 25 Feet.

"Just what is life if it is something that can be stopped for a period of a few hundred thousand years, and then started again?" the scientist asked.

Rittenberg's study constitutes the first bacteriological analysis of layers of marine sediments below 68 centimeters, and was made possible thru use of a newly developed heavy gravity coring tube which penetrated to a depth of as much as 770 centimeters [about 25 feet].

Special Train to Carry Kiley and Escort.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24 [Special].—The Most Rev. Moses E. Kiley will be welcomed by 13,000 school children from the upper grades of 74 elementary schools and nine high schools when he reaches Milwaukee at 2:45 p. m. Wednesday. He will be enthroned archbishop of Milwaukee in regal ceremonies at Gesu church on Thursday morning.

School children will line both curbs of Wisconsin avenue when the archbishop designate is driven from the Milwaukee road depot to the archepiscopal residence at 2000 West Wisconsin avenue.

Sixty members of the Milwaukee clergy, headed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bernard G. Traudt, administrator of the diocese since the transfer of former Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch to Chicago, will leave here tomorrow in a special train for Trenton, N. J., where Milwaukee's new archbishop has served as bishop.

Travel on Special Train.

Late Tuesday afternoon a special train will leave Trenton on the Pennsylvania road carrying the new archbishop to his see. One hundred Trenton clergymen and laymen will come with his as an escort. They will reach Chicago at 8:40 o'clock Wednesday morning. Bishop Kiley will say mass in his former church, Holy Cross Mission in Chicago, and then will visit Archbishop Stritch.

At the Union station in Chicago an additional delegation of Milwaukee clergy and laymen will welcome the party from Trenton and return to this city with the new archbishop. The train will leave Chicago for Milwaukee at 1:15 Wednesday afternoon.

Archbishop Stritch will return to Milwaukee for the enthronement of his successor and will be accompanied by about 100 of the Chicago clergy.

Will Be Hailed En Route.

The special train will slow down to six miles an hour at Sturtevant to give Catholics of Racine and Kenosha a chance to hail their new archbishop.

The Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, will preside at the ceremony of enthronement. He will be met at Chicago by a delegation of Milwaukee priests and escorted to the archepiscopal residence here.

Eight archbishops and members of Archbishop Kiley's family will stay at the Pfister hotel. The 38 visiting bishops, two abbots, and the visiting clergy will stay at the Schroeder. Dinner will be served at the Schroeder hotel Wednesday night in honor of the Trenton clergy.

EUROPEAN BOXERS TO START TRAINING ON SHIP TODAY

FOUR ON TEAM AWED BY FIRST AMERICAN TRIP

Tandberg Anxious to See Joe Louis.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD MOTOR SHIP VULCANIA, March 24.—The calm of Easter Sunday failed to stifle the excitement of the European boxing champions today as the Vulcania carried them toward Gibraltar and another day nearer the United States and Chicago, their ultimate destination.

Several members of the squad attended mass early today. Later on, with Trainer Steve Klaus in charge, they took light exercises. The training will be accentuated slowly, as Klaus, an old sea traveler, appreciates that it will be two or three days before some of the lads will be adjusted to ocean travel.

Trip Thrills Boxers.

A wide vista is opening to the eight champions who will meet the Chicagoland Golden Glovers the night of April 10 in the Chicago Stadium. They are wide eyed and enchanted at the prospect of the long trip, the sights of New York and Chicago and finally the physical test that will climax their 10,000 mile round trip adventure.

Guido Nardecchia, flyweight; Ulderico Sergo, bantamweight; Egisto Peire, lightweight, all of Italy, and Eric Agren of Sweden, have made the trip before, but they seem almost as transfixed as the other four members of the team as they contemplate the pleasures and excitement ahead.

First Trip for Four.

The other four—Federico Cortonesi, featherweight [Italy]; Lazos Szigeti, light heavyweight [Hungary]; Karl Noren, middleweight, and Olle Tandberg, heavyweight, both of Sweden, asked dozens of questions, either directly or indirectly, about the United States. They have heard of New York's Empire State building, the Statue of Liberty, streamlined trains, and many other famous American points of interest.

All expressed a hope of seeing Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion. This especially is true of Tandberg, regarded as Europe's greatest amateur heavyweight.

There was an absence of talk about the war and no fears were felt that the good ship Vulcania would undergo any wartime difficulties.

Plan Workout Today.

The European athlete is noted for quiet confidence and this group is no exception. Altho the identities of their opponents in Chicago is not known, each is sure of his own ability to win. Europe's team won last year, 5 to 3, and Trainer Klaus already has his charges believing they are stronger as a unit than the 1939 representatives.

Tomorrow, weather permitting, Klaus plans to put the athletes on a running schedule on the ship's deck and mix in a goodly portion of boxing and gymnasium work. The Vulcania is well equipped for this type of training. When the warriors land in New York on April 2 they will be in fighting trim.

MAKI'S FLYING FEET FLYING TO N. Y. MASSEUR

Cleveland, O., March 24 (AP).—Board tracks are bothering the flying feet of Taisto Maki, so the Finnish distance runner flew to New York tonight for a three day appointment with a masseur.

Scheduled to appear here Friday on his American tour to raise Finnish relief funds, Maki paused at Cleveland airport only 15 minutes after arriving from Ann Arbor where he was defeated last night by Michigan's Ralph Schwarzkopf in a two-mile exhibition race.

"Maki's feet, unused to board tracks, have bothered him," said Naylor Stone, a representative. "The New York masseur we found uses methods we know Maki's legs respond to. It will take three days to put them in shape. He limped somewhat before the race last night."

MAC QUINN WINS 40 LAP FEATURE IN MIDGET RACE

Harry MacQuinn of Indianapolis won the 40 lap feature auto race last night in the 124th Field Artillery armory. His time was 8 minutes 53 seconds. Taking the lead from Ray Richards of Highland Park during the third lap, MacQuinn stayed in front the remainder of the distance. Richards was second and Ted Duncan of Chicago was third. Tony Willman of Milwaukee was fourth and Emil Andres of Chicago fifth.

Myron Fohr of Milwaukee escaped serious injury when he crashed into the wall on the west straightaway during the running of the third elimination race. He was severely shaken.

LOUIS TRAINS FOR PAYCHECK FIGHT TO PACKED HOUSE

Ex-Champion Braddock Sees Workout.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Greenwood Lake, N. Y., March 24.—Joe Louis drew a packed house this Easter afternoon for his four round drills in preparation for his fight with Johnny Paycheck Friday night in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Among those who watched Louis was Jimmy Braddock, from whom Joe wrested the title in 1937. Louis was received enthusiastically, as usual, and Braddock also did not deviate from his prefight predictions.

Picks Joe in Two Rounds.

"It's Louis in two rounds," was the former champion's laconic assertion after he had seen Joe step thru four fast, hard fought training sessions.

"And when Braddock picks Louis," Joe Gould, who directed Braddock's ascent to the heavyweight title, interrupted, "he's not picking him because we get a cut of the receipts."

Gould referred, of course, to his pending suit against Promoter Mike Jacobs for an accounting of Louis' earnings and the percentage Jacobs had agreed to pay Braddock and Gould for meeting Louis in Chicago in 1937.

Louis' Best Eastern Camp.

This camp across the Ramapo mountains from Tuxedo, N. Y., is the best Louis has had in the east. The gymnasium is built on the steep west side of the lake which still has 18 inches of ice. The entourage of the champion hasn't changed except that Co-Manager Julian Black was absent today. John Roxborough, the other director of Louis' affairs, was on hand, as were Trainers Jack Blackburn and Larry Amdade, and Clarence Brown of Chicago and George Nicholson, sparring partners.

Louis fought one round with each of these and also appeared for a round against Jimmy Johnson, Brooklyn, and Curtis Sheppard, 1938 New York Golden Gloves champion who two years ago whipped Dan Merritt, Chicago's heavyweight, for the Golden Gloves title.

Ready for Ninth Defense.

Louis is ready for the ninth defense of his championship. It would be news if Joe were not in condition. But since his unsatisfactory battle with Arturo Godoy, whom he defeated in 15 rounds in the Garden in his last fight, Louis seems to have placed more emphasis on making his opponents fight instead of permitting them to set their own pace and concentrate on avoiding trouble.

Against Nicholson, his third spar mate today, the champion bore in, carried the fight to his rival, and struck with full power. Early in the round a right to the side of the head staggered Nicholson. Just before the end of the three minutes, another nearly sent the husky heavyweight to the floor.

Brown gave Joe his best scrap this afternoon. He met Joe at his own game, traded punches and received the acclaim of the packed ringside at the end of the round.

GALENTO REVISES OPINION.

Pompton Lakes, N. J., March 24 [Special].—At last! A fighter who is no bum in the eyes of Tony Galento. He watched Johnny Paycheck go thru his paces today in preparation for his heavyweight title meeting with Joe Louis and of course, it was only the old buildup, but Galento said:

"I made a mistake when I says this guy was a bum before I had a chance to see him. He's got a good left and a sneaky right hand punch that's gonna cause Louey plenty of trouble. He's one of the fastest guys for a heavyweight I ever seen. I ain't making no predictions but I hope Paycheck doesn't flatten that Louey before I get another chance at the bum myself."

May Meet for Lightweight Title

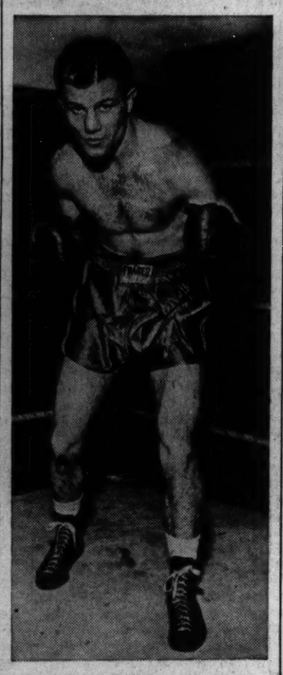
Davey Day of Chicago, recognized as No. 1 lightweight boxing challenger by the National Boxing association, which today is expected to strip Lou Ambers of the title for failure to meet the Chicagoan.



Sammy Angott of Louisville, who will be designated by the N. B. A. as Day's opponent for the vacant title. Bout will be held either in Chicago or Louisville.

N.B.A. to Strip Lou Ambers of Title, Report

Lou Ambers' refusal to sign for a defense of his lightweight championship against Davey Day, recognized as No. 1 contender by the National Boxing association, has caused the N. B. A. to vacate the title, it was reported last night.

Formal announcement of the action will be made in Washington, D. C., this morning by Lieut. Col. Harvey Miller, president of the association, following complete returns of a poll taken of the executive committee and the ratings board. The announcement also will contain a recommendation that Day, Golden Gloves product, and Sammy Angott, second foremost challenger, meet within 60 days for the right to be called the new champion.

Anticipating the N. B. A. move, Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission and second vice president of the association, has made arrangements to have Angott and Day appear in the commission offices in the Steger building this afternoon to sign articles for the match. Triner is striving to have the fight held in Chicago, but Johnson S. Mattingley, head of the Kentucky athletic board of control, is making a determined effort to swing it to Louisville.

Mattingley will attend the commission meeting with a $5,000 offer for

PAIRINGS MADE FOR CATHOLIC MEET AT LOYOLA

Fort Wayne Champions to Face Austin, Minn.

Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind., which gave a convincing demonstration of its superiority over the nation's Catholic prep basketball teams last year, will be greeted by a husky group of Minnesotans in its first assignment in the opening round of the 17th annual national Catholic tournament, which starts in Loyola university gymnasium Wednesday night. The Hoosiers yesterday drew the strong St. Augustine team of Austin, Minn., as their opponents.

The honor of opening the meet, however, will go to Marmion academy of nearby Aurora and Messmer High of Milwaukee. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock. It will be preceded by ceremonies in which the members of the 32 squads entered in the tournament and 32 girls from eight Chicago Catholic schools will participate. Each girl will lead a team onto the court. Players then will be led in a sportsmanship oath by Edmund Stanczak, captain and star center of Fort Wayne's quintet.

Bloomington Meets Indian Five.

Immediately after the Marmion-Messmer game, Capt. Stanczak and his teammates will begin the defense of the championship against St. Augustine. The third game of the evening will bring together Trinity High of Bloomington, downstate Illinois champion, and Immaculate Conception of St. Stephen Mission, S. D., one of the two Indian teams in the meet.

First round competition will be resumed at 8:45 o'clock Thursday morning. Eleven games will be played during the day. The second round schedule will begin at 11 o'clock Friday morning. The quarter-finals and semi-finals will be held Saturday and the final game for the championship on Sunday night.

St. Philip Faces Superior.

Leo, which won the Chicago title from St. Philip in an overtime contest, 27 to 25, was runner-up to Fort Wayne in the finals last year.

The Indian quintet of St. Francis Mission, S. D., drew St. Bernard of Bradford, Pa., as its first round opponent. The game will open Thursday's evening schedule at 7:30 o'clock.

Teams from widely scattered sections of the country will start to gather in Chicago tomorrow. Among the first arrivals will be New Mexico's champions, St. Michael's of Santa Fe. The squad this season won 28 out of 30 games, scoring 1,275 points to its opponents' 730. ## NICHOLSON AND HERMAN DRIVE OUT HOME RUNS

Smith and Appleton Victors' Victims.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—The White Sox, who seem to think there is no glory in beating their deadly enemies, the Cubs, except in the fall when there is some money at stake, fell slightly behind their municipal rivals today in the fifth game of the spring series. Altho they shaded the National leaguers in the hit column, the Sox were somewhat errant as run producers, so the Cubs eased themselves into a comforting 7 to 5 triumph for a 3 to 2 edge in the exhibitions played to date. It was the Cubs' seventh straight spring triumph.

Since leaving Catalina Island the Cubs have won eight out of 10 games. They defeated the Sox, 14 to 7, on March 14. Then they were beaten by their rivals on successive afternoons, 11 to 10 in 10 innings and 9 to 4. The present streak started March 17 when the Athletics were beaten, 4 to 2. Then the National leaguers whipped Los Angeles, took another one from the Athletics, two in a row from the Pirates and two straight from the Sox.

Passeau, French Pitch.

The Cubs, following orders that nobody must be spared in the frantic effort to kill off the long standing Sox jinx, employed Claude Passeau and Larry French on the mound. Both these regulars threw all the deceptive items in their repertoire, but developments indicated they have not yet reached the point where they can go more than a few innings without wilting. Passeau, after two hitless innings, was manhandled in his last two. French southpawed stylishly for three innings before undergoing a brisk shaking up in the eighth.

Manager James Dykes' suspicions about the condition, or lack of it, of his towheaded southpaw, Edgar Smith, were confirmed. The Cubs rendered Smith a good blasting in the second, mainly because he lacked control. In the third he pitched himself right out of the game, walking three men with none out. Jack Knott adjusted this situation in part after yielding two runs, then followed with three scoreless innings. Pete Appleton finished, but he was battered for three decisive runs in the seventh.

Smith's Woes Increase.

The Cubs enjoyed considerable benefit from extra base hits as well as the passes handed out by Smith. The first of the extra base wallops was a double by Dominic Dallessandro, which, with two passes and a single by Bob Mattick, blossomed into two runs in the second. In the third two scored on one hit—a single by Al Todd. But against Appleton in the seventh there was a homer by Billy Herman, another by Bill Nicholson, and a two bagger by Todd. The only homer by a Sox batter was off Julius Solters' bat.

Smith was good enough to get by in the first inning with the damage limited to one pass, but was in real difficulties as soon as the second opened. Dallessandro led off with a double to right, and Russell walked. Todd sent a fly to left, and Solters, seeking to learn whether the umpires knew the revised rules, deliberately dropped

Detroit, Mich., March 24 [Special].—Chicago bowlers continued to shake up the American Bowling Congress standings today as three positions among the 10 leaders were taken by Chicagoans while others hit for totals which will qualify in the $241,000 prize list.

Nick DeGrazia, Melrose Park veteran, went into second place in the singles late today with 688. His games were 247, 204, and 237. DeGrazia missed the all-events leaders, having preceded his singles series with a 521 with his Mayrose team in the five-man event and a 594 doubles tally.

Charley Bunn, 53 year old electric engineer, climbed into third place in the singles with 686. Competing in his eighteenth consecutive tournament, Bunn had scores of 231, 263, and 192. He had a cluster of nine consecutive strikes in his second game.

Take Second in Doubles.

Joe Schaffek and Tony Novak paced the Easter Sunday doubles, rolling up 1,258 for second place. Novak contributed 632 and his partner 626.

Another Chicagoan, Vincent Fowler, tied for fourth in the all-events with 1,839, while Dave Lawson of Winnipeg, Can., hit 1,828 for his nine games in taking eighth.

The Kaadlands paced the Chicago teams in tonight's firing, getting 2,803 on games of 833, 1,036, and 934. Herb Engstrom was high man on the squad with 618.

RECORD NUMBER OF DOGS ENTERED IN CHICAGO SHOW

A record number of dogs are to be exhibited at the 39th annual Chicago all-breed dog show, sponsored by the International Kennel club, Saturday and Sunday in the International amphitheater. The list of 1,168 dogs shown last year will be topped by a large margin, officials said last night, with entries closing at midnight.

First arrivals of out-of-town dogs from 31 states and Canada, which will compete against the pick of the midwest for $10,000 in cash prizes, are expected Thursday. Entries have come from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota, Connecticut, Nebraska, and Missouri.

Last night dachshunds were running a close race for first place with cocker spaniels of the American type, which have led all the shows for years except Westminster this year, when dachshunds occupied first place.

Many Chicago Entries.

Among Chicago exhibitors will be Harold M. Florsheim, who has listed his airedale Toadleach Girl of Harham, two Welsh terriers including Champion Penhill Perfect of Harham, three Irish terriers including Champion Severus Sport of Harham, and two pointers.

Mrs. Janet H. Henneberry has listed four English springer spaniels including Champion Donniedhu Brick. Listed from the Wayston kennels of Lake Forest are six English bulldogs to be shown by Conway H. Olmsted and five dachshunds to be exhibited by Hulburd Johnston.

Mrs. C. H. Morse Jr. of Lake Forest will show her famous Irish wolfhound, Moran of Ouborough. Richard Cooper of Franklin Park has listed his Irish setter, Dawn's Revelation Midoaks. Paul Fentress of Libertyville has nominated his Dalmation, Squire of Daldale. Albert W. Harris, Chicago banker, has named three Chesapeake retrievers from his estate at Williams Bay, Wis.

Ten Collies Listed.

Ferry von Rauhfelsen of Giralda, the Dobermann-Pinscher selected as the best dog of the 1939 International, is to appear again. The champion was shown last year by Mrs. Geraldine Rockefeller Dodge of Madison, N. J. She sold Ferry during the summer to the Randahof kennels of Van Nuys, Cal.

Entries will be accepted up to Friday morning for the amateur judging contest for boys and girls from 14 to 21 years old. This is to be held Friday afternoon as a pre-show event. Boy Scouts will compete on Friday night in a special event.

Hold Funeral Tomorrow for John Schorling

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow for John M. Schorling, 74 years old, at the residence, 429 West 79th street. He died Saturday night of pneumonia.

Mr. Schorling for years was identified with a number of semi-professional baseball teams in Chicago, starting about 1890 with Schorling's Baseball park at 79th street and Vincennes avenue. He later bought the ground lease on the old White Sox park at 39th street and Shields avenue, which became the home grounds of the American Giants baseball team, then managed by the late Andrew [Rube] Foster.

N.B.A. to Strip Lou Ambers of Title, Report

Day to fight Angott in Louisville, Derby eve, which is May 3. Bill Rand also is bidding to promote the event in the Chicago Stadium April 17.

The site is expected to be named at today's session. The fact that this city has seen Day and Angott clash twice, the first decision going to Sammy in 10 rounds last Oct. 6 and the second going to Day in 12 rounds the following Dec. 8, may strengthen Louisville's chances of obtaining the prize. The rubber match is proposed for 15 rounds.

The move on the part of the N.B.A. to dethrone Ambers is seen as the first of a series in an attempt to break New York's monopoly on champions and championship fights. The association also threatens to dethrone Henry Armstrong unless he agrees to risk his welterweight title against Milt Aron, and Joey Archibald unless he promises to defend his featherweight championship against Petey Scalzo. Ambers and Archibald are managed by Al Weill, and Armstrong is represented by Eddie Mead. Both managers are residents of New York.

Meets Jenkins May 10.

The N. B. A. executive committee consists of Sam Marberger, Indiana; Abe Greene, New Jersey; Col. Miller, and Triner. Members of the ratings board are James A. Blake, Virginia; Edward C. Foster, Rhode Island; Fred Saddy, Wisconsin; Col. Miller, and Triner.

Ambers will meet Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., in a 15 round contest in Madison Square Garden May 10 which the New York commission will recognize as for Ambers' title. The N. B. A. invited Jenkins to prove his right to a championship match by eliminating Day, but Lew's manager, Hymie Caplin, also of New York, ignored the request with the excuse Davey is not a legitimate lightweight. The association recently named Jenkins No. 3 contender.

Day to Box at 135 Pounds.

To quiet doubters, Day has agreed to make the division limit of 135 pounds in a 10 round test contest against Norment Quarles of Hendersonville, N. C., in the stadium Friday. Quarles will be allowed to weigh 137 pounds. The card is topped by Ben Brown, Irishman from Atlanta, Ga., who is rated fourth leading middleweight challenger, and Tony Zale, 1934 Gary Golden Gloves sectional winner.

Zale, who yesterday took his first rest in three weeks, will return to training chores in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon. He was told of Brown's knockdown of Emil Camps, rugged and capable west side light heavyweight, in a drill Saturday, but the information failed to cause him concern. If the 22 year old Ben finds a vulnerable spot for one of his hefty wallops Friday, however, Zale's backers will have plenty to be concerned about.

HORNETS DEFEAT SHAMROCKS; WIN HOCKEY PLAYOFF

The Chicago Hornets, beaten in the opening game a week previously, 2 to 1, defeated the C. Y. O. Shamrocks yesterday, 2 to 0, and thus won the two-game total-goals playoff series for the championship of the Arena Hockey league. This gave the Hornets an aggregate winning score of 3 to 2.

Bob Kuhn, C. Y. O. goalie, was credited with 38 stops in preventing the Hornets from piling up even a larger margin. Ray Bjorck scored the first goal of yesterday's game midway in the second period to tie the series at 2-all after taking a pass from Al Suomi. With two of their players in the penalty box the Shamrocks staved off a series of power plays in the third period. But with two minutes to play Bjorck broke loose again to circle the C. Y. O. defense and passed to Louie Zeman, who was uncovered in front of the net. Zeman fired the puck past Kuhn for the deciding goal.

Pallatin Meets Britton Tonight in Ten Rounds

Tommy Pallatin, member of the 1937 international Golden Gloves team, now boxing professionally as a welterweight, will meet Bobby Britton of Miami, Fla., in a 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

A recent victory scored over Milo Theodorescu of Rumania has given Pallatin necessary confidence to cope with anything Britton, son of Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, will have to offer.

Young Britton will have his father serving as a second. However, that won't awe Tommy. Theodorescu probably can't boast the skill possessed by Bobby, but Pallatin is confident his aggressive two fisted style will prove too much for his 22 year old opponent. In addition to Theodorescu, Tom has beaten such fighters as Johnny Barbara and Bobby McIntyre.

Britton, who made a good fight against Milt Aron in his Chicago debut last summer, has not boxed in three months. His style is reminiscent of that employed by Jack when the latter dethroned Ted [Kid] Lewis by a nine round knockout in Canton, O., March 17, 1910. Jack was adept with his left, jabbing and hooking while watching his foe's feet.

Tom Johnston vs. Frank Greene [5], heavyweights.

Jimmy McCormick vs. George Kontopolis [4], welterweights.

Gene Ward vs. Bill Eddy [4], lightweights.

Joe O'Sirnac vs. Babe Thompson [4], middleweights.

Jack Conley and Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer will be opponents in a one hour wrestling headliner in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, this evening. . . . A 10 round contest between Leo Rodak, only boxer to win three Golden Gloves championships, and George Salamone of Boston, scheduled in Boston Thursday, has been postponed 24 hours because the original date conflicted with the hockey playoffs between the New York Rangers and Boston Bruins. Rodak also may meet Paul Junior in Providence, R. I., April 8.

Babe Ruth to Run Traveling Baseball School in Midwest

George Herman [Bate] Ruth will return to baseball this year as head man of a traveling baseball school which will open June 1 in the middle west, Ray L. Doan of Muscatine, Ia., announced yesterday. The school will hold 10 day sessions in each of a dozen or more cities in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska, according to present plans.

YANKS ARE JUST ANOTHER TEAM TO THOSE CARDS

Wind Up 6 Game Florida Series All Even.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24 (AP).—The New York Yankees may be champions of the world, but they are only co-champions of St. Petersburg, sharing the title with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards pounded Oral Hildebrand for nine hits and five runs in four innings to beat the Yanks, 6 to 3, today in the sixth and final game of their local series. Each team won three.

Curt Davis and Bob Bowman combined to check the Yankees' vaunted attack, Davis working the first five innings and yielding four hits that might have meant a shutout except for an error by Joe Orengo.

The big gun in the Cards' attack again was the recently acquired Morris Jones, who hit three singles. Score:

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 202 | 100 | 100 | 8 | 13 | 2 |

RED SOX, 4; GIANTS, 3.

Sarasota, Fla., March 24 (AP).—Held hitless for the last six innings by Jim Bagby, the New York Giants were beaten, 4 to 3, today by the Boston Red Sox. It was their fourth consecutive defeat by one run. The Giants solved the offerings of Lefty Grove for all their runs in the second inning and then were shut out by Bagby.

A rookie named George Lacy also took a hand in Boston's triumph. In the fifth he smashed a liner thru the pitcher's box that split Bill Lohrman's right thumbnail and in the sixth he singled the tying and winning runs across. Score:

TIGERS BLANK SENATORS, 12-0.

Lakeland, Fla., March 24 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers, hitting hard behind the brilliant pitching of Rookie Dick Conger and Freddie Hutchinson, shut out the Washington Senators, 12 to 0, today. Conger, a youngster off the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles, ran his string of scoreless innings to 14 as he limited the Senators to three hits in five innings. Hutchinson yielded four in the final four innings.

The Tigers' 14 hits included home runs by Hank Greenberg and Birdie Tebbetts. Score:

CLEVELAND LOSES, 8-4.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 24 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians collected nine hits today, their second largest total this spring, but Indianapolis of the American association defeated the Tribe, 8 to 4, with a five run attack on Rookie Mike Naymick in the seventh.

Al Milnar yielded three hits and two runs in the first four innings, and Ken Jungels, supplanting Naymick in the last two innings, yielded only one hit. Score:

REDS, CUBANS TIE.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 24 (AP).—The expedition of the Cincinnati Reds into Cuba ended in a deadlock today as the third and deciding game of their series with the Cuban All-Stars was called in the 10th inning with the score 4 to 4 so the Reds could catch their boat. A crowd of more than 12,000 jammed Tropical stadium to see the finale.

Cincinnati took a two run lead in the first with three hits off Adolfo Luque, Cuban former major leaguer, and added a run in the second and another in the fifth. The All-Stars kept pecking away at Jim Turner and Junior Thompson until they tied the score in the eighth. Score:

A'S WHIP PIRATES.

Oakland, Cal., March 24 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 4, in a drizzling rain this morning. A second game, scheduled for the afternoon in San Francisco, was canceled because of rain.

The Athletics scored early and took an eight run lead before the Pirates scored in the last of the seventh. Chapman and Gantenbein each made three hits out of four times up.

BROWNS WIN AGAIN.

San Antonio, Tex., March 24 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns gained their fourth straight victory over the Toledo American association team, 4 to 3, this afternoon. Fine pitching featured the Browns' victory, with the work of Emil Bildilli being especially brilliant. He yielded only three hits in five innings.

Johnny Lucadello, recruit infielder, made three errors at second in the eighth inning to pave the way for all three Toledo runs. Score:

Cubs Defeat Sox, 7-5; Take Series Lead

Sturgeon forced Russell, and it would have been a double play if the ball hadn't stuck in the web of Appling's glove. Then Passeau walked, and with the count 3 and 2, Mattick singled to center, Dallessandro and Sturgeon scoring.

The Sox had such an unhappy time with Passeau that seven of them were disposed of before they had their first glimpse of first base. One was out in the third when Tresh doubled to right center. Smith struck out, but Hayes came along with a single over first base and Tresh scored. Kuhel kept the pot boiling by singling to center, but Passeau escaped further pressure when Kreevich filed to Nicholson.

Todd Drives in Two.

Smitty's giddy exhibition which led to his dismissal in the third opened with walks to Galan, Nicholson, and Dallessandro, whereupon Manager Dykes decided the left hander had best be locked up before giving away his shirt. Knott paraded forth as rescuer and Russell tapped in front of the plate for a double play, Knott to Tresh to Kuhel. Todd then spoiled the rescue expedition by singling to center, Nicholson and Dallessandro scoring. This give the Cubs a 4 to 1 edge.

The Sox really gave Passeau another nice going over in the fourth but had to be contented with two runs. One of these was Solters' homer to open the inning. Appling followed with a single to right, Wright filed to Dallessandro, and Kennedy was out on a grounder to Herman. Tresh spoke again, this time with a single, sending Appling across the plate. Knott grounded to Russell and this completed Passeau's pitching exercise for the day.

Then the Home Run Barrage.

Except for a pair of harmless hits, Knott was perfect in the fourth, fifth, and sixth, but as soon as Appleton went to work in the seventh all was confusion. Appleton's first pitch was whacked over the 345 foot wall in left by Herman. Galan filed to Kreevich and Nicholson boosted his homer over the right field bricks, 339 feet from the plate. Appleton covered first base on Dallessandro's rough grounder but dropped Kolloway's throw. Dallessandro scored later on when Todd pumped a two bagger into left center.

The Sox kicked up sufficient fuss in the eighth to make Manager Gabby Hartnett order activity in the bull pen. Kreevich thumped French for a single to center. After Solters had filed out, Webb also singled to center. Rosenthal singled to right, Kreevich scoring and Webb taking third. He scored while Mattick was making a neat pickup and throw on Kennedy's slow bounder. A wild pitch moved Rosenthal to third but Silvestri was not able to get him home.

Dizzy Finds a Sympathetic Bone Expert

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—Dizzy Dean reported today to Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs that he had visited a specialist after pitching 15 minutes in batting practice yesterday and that the Doc had advised him to take three weeks of complete rest, after which his arm would be as good as it ever was. "To hell with that noise," was Manager Hartnett's only comment.

Easter parading held the attendance at today's Sox-Cubs game down considerably under the 8,700 who saw the Philadelphia Athletics and the Cubs celebrate Connie Mack day here last Sunday.

The Sox will have a day off tomorrow, no exercise whatsoever. The Cubs will play the Los Angeles Angels, with Charley Root and Ken Raffensberger sharing the pitching assignment.

On Tuesday the Sox will play Hollywood in Hollywood and the Cubs again will engage the Angels. Wednesday the Cubs will play the Pirates in Wrigley field and the Sox will play the Athletics in Hollywood. Thursday the Sox and Cubs play their California farewell, then head for Tucson, Ariz.

Rip Russell and Miss Dotty Chamberlain say they will be married Wednesday. Earlier they had said Monday or Tuesday.

3 Home Runs by Max West Win for Bees

Clearwater, Fla., March 24 (AP).—Max West hit three home runs and drove in five tallies today as the Boston Bees defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 11 to 10. His first home run started a five run rally in the first inning.

Les Scarsella and Eddie Miller also hit home runs as the Bees built up a lead big enough to nullify a seven run Brooklyn outburst in the ninth. Joe Vosmik, Dolf Camilli, and Roy Cullenbine contributed home runs for the Dodgers.

Brooklyn batted around in the ninth inning before Manager Casey Stengel of the Bees pulled Tom Early out of the box and sent in Joe Sullivan, who retired Bert Haas on a pop fly for the last out. Score:

This Goes On and On--Hoppe Wins Another

The head man of the world three cushion billiard tournament and the fellow who brings up the rear in the 11 man parade of experts met last night in Bensinger's South Wabash recreation as the first two weeks of competition in the $20,000 event came to an end.

Willie Hoppe, the head man, was given an unexpected scare by Art Rubin, his opponent, and it wasn't until the suave New Yorker scored his 50th point that his opponent from the same commonwealth was squelched. The final score was 50 to 48, and it went into the books as the old master's 10th straight triumph. It tacked another loss on Rubin's record which reads nine defeats in 12 matches.

Rubin Takes 18-8 Lead.

Rubin started with a rush and had Hoppe in a thoughtful mood as he led, 18 to 8, at the end of 11 innings. Hoppe rallied with six in the 15th and seven in the 16th to go ahead, 27 to 25, but there still was more work to be done. Rubin matched him shot for shot down the stretch. The newcomer to world play scored five in the 41st inning to make the score 47 to 46 in Hoppe's favor. In succeeding innings they scored a point each until the conclusion in the 44th.

Jay Bozeman, the Vallejo, California speed machine, gained his seventh victory in 11 starts by downing Allen Hall in the opening evening match, 50 to 44, in 58 innings. The defeat was Hall's sixth in 11 appearances. Bozeman retained third place in the standings by virtue of his triumph.

Both Bozeman and Hall played consistently, the former having a six for the game's high run. Hall's best was four.

Cochran, Chamaco Tied.

Joe Chamaco of Mexico City, the national champion, stopped his downward plunge by defeating Tiff Denton of Kansas City, Mo., 50 to 44.

Welker Cochran of San Francisco went into a fourth place tie with Chamaco by edging out Art Thurnblad of Kenosha, Wis., 50 to 46, in another afternoon battle that went 62 innings.

Indianapolis Hockey Team Victor, 3 to 2

Indianapolis, Ind., March 24 (AP).—The Indianapolis Capitals came from behind tonight to beat the Rhode Island Reds of Providence, 3 to 2, and stay in the series A playoffs of the International-American hockey league. More than 6,000 witnessed the game.

The game was the third in the series, which goes to the winner of three contests. Providence won the first two games. The fourth will be played here Tuesday night.

The Capitals scored three goals in the third period after Providence had made two the period before. Gus Giesebrecht's winning tally came with less than two minutes to play and while Capt. Lesieur of Providence was in the penalty box for tripping. Bob Carse, who was loaned to the Reds along with Johnny Chad by the Chicago Blackhawks Saturday, scored both Providence goals, about six minutes apart.

Arch Wilder tallied first for Indianapolis, after two minutes and two seconds of the last period. Carl Liscombe scored the Caps' second goal and was credited with an assist on the third.

RED WINGS GAIN SEMI-FINALS IN HOCKEY PLAYOFF

Bruins Take One Game Lead Over Rangers.

Detroit, Mich., March 24 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings brushed aside the New York Americans, 3 to 1, tonight in their drive to reach the finals of the National Hockey league Stanley cup series. After being held to a 1 to 1 tie in the first two periods the Wings opened up in the final period and scored twice to the delight of 10,000 fans.

It was the rubber game of the series, Detroit having been beaten by the Americans in the second contest after winning the opener. BRUINS, 4; RANGERS, 3

Boston, Mass., March 24 (AP).—A superiod brand of orthodox hockey, plus Eddie Wiseman's sharpshooting, gave the Boston Bruins a 4 to 3 victory over the New York Rangers and a two games to one lead in their seven game Stanley cup semi-final playoff series before 16,512 tonight in the Boston Garden.

The superiority of the Bruins' play was much more decisive than the score indicated. One of the Rangers' tallies resulted from an error by Frankie Brimsek, Bruin goalie, and another was a fluke.

Wiseman, obtained from the New York Americans in a trade for Eddie Shore, scored the first and last Boston goals. The others were provided by little Bobby Bauer and Roy Conacher.

The teams will meet for the fourth time in New York on Tuesday and will return here Thursday. If other games are needed to decide the series they will be played in New York Saturday and here next Sunday.

BRITAIN TO CUT UNITED STATES COTTON BUYING

May Revive Federal Loans to Growers.

Washington, D. C., March 24 (AP).—British trade authorities have informed American officials that the United Kingdom expects to curtail purchases of American cotton in a move to conserve foreign exchange.

Disclosing this today, agriculture department officials forecast difficulties in disposing of 1940 cotton abroad and predicted that the government would again be asked to advance large sums to growers in the form of loans on unmarketable surpluses.

Largest Recent Buyer.

The United Kingdom has been by far the largest recent importer of American cotton. It took 1,526,000 bales during the seven months ended March 1, compared with only 320,000 bales in the same period a year earlier.

British ships which transport cotton from the United States frequently come here empty. By turning to South America for their cotton the British see a chance of sending out ships laden with goods which can be sold to pay for the cotton.

One agriculture department cotton authority said that on the basis of present prospects, it was likely that 2,000,000 bales or more of 1940 cotton would have to be kept off the market by means of government loans. His estimate was based upon a 12,000,000 bale crop.

Last Crop Below Demand.

This season cotton is being withdrawn from storage under loans to supply market needs. The 1939 crop of 11,500,000 bales will run about 2,000,000 bales short of domestic and export demand.

Great Britain, as a war measure, already has restricted imports of American tobacco and canned fruits and has reduced sharply its imports of apples and several other agricultural products. These steps were taken to save foreign exchange in this country for war supplies, and also to promote closer relations with other agricultural nations by taking larger quantities of their products.

Rails Masking Shortcomings, Truckers Say

Washington, D. C., March 24 [Special].—Railroads' charges that trucks and buses are subsidized have been used as a screen to hide shortcomings in rail management, T. V. Rodgers, president of the American Trucking associations, declared today.

T. V. Rodgers.

Rodgers said the average tax burden per ton mile on truck freight is 16 times larger than that on railroad freight. Trucks, he said, paid $417,000,000 in 1937 in special taxes alone. He asserted the total annual tax bill of the railroads was about three-fourths of that amount.

Accused of False Reports.

Railroads were accused by Rodgers of publishing erroneous and misleading statistics on highway financing in an effort to bring about higher taxes on motorists, divert passenger traffic from passenger cars and buses, and attract freight from trucks to railroads.

"The railroads' troubles are chiefly a result of shortsighted policies which have made the roads inflexible and kept them from being able to meet problems arising from low levels of freight traffic during the depression years," Rodgers charged.

"The real truth is that railroad taxes have increased much less than has the general tax burden on business and the public.

Rail Revenues Increased.

"In the first decade of this century the per capita tax was about $20. Now it is about $100—a fivefold increase. Before the world war the railroads paid about $125,000,000 in taxes annually. Now they pay about $350,000,000—less than a threefold increase. Also it should be noted that annual revenues of the railroads since the world war have averaged more than twice as much as in prewar years."

PURE OIL.

Pure Oil common stock seems to be in a much better position now than a few years back. Will you please give me some information about this company?—H. B.

Answer: The Pure Oil company and subsidiaries constitute an integrated enterprise engaged in all four functions of the oil industry—production, transportation and refining of crude oil, and marketing of petroleum products.

The company's petroleum properties are concentrated in the highly productive Van Field in eastern Texas and in the new pools of southeastern Illinois. Crude oil reserves are estimated from 400 to 500 million barrels.

Six refineries are in operation in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Texas, and Michigan. Modernization of refineries since 1935 at a cost of more than 12½ million dollars effected substantial economies in operations. Crude oil refined in 1939 totaled 27,600,000 barrels, a gain of 2,400,000 over the total in 1938.

Gross output of the company's wells in 1939 totaled 25,500,000 barrels of crude oil and net production after payment of royalties and other charges was 22,200,000 barrels, or about 2,600,000 barrels over the net output of 1938. The average price obtained for this crude oil in 1939 was $1.04 a barrel, which was 15 cents less than the 1938 average price. Crude oil production was 92 per cent of the company's refinery requirements in 1939.

Sales of gasoline last year amounted to 682 million gallons, a 3 per cent increase over those of 1938. The market for gasoline was unsettled during 1939, and prices of petroleum products in general were materially lower than in 1938. Despite adverse conditions in the industry the company's net earnings gained 53 per cent in 1939 because of more economical operations than in 1938.

Gross operating income, net income, and earnings per common share [after provision for preferred stocks] of the company and subsidiaries compared as follows in recent years:

|---|---|---|---|
| 1935 | $ 92,417,000 | $ 8,150,000 | $2.00 |
| 1936 | 106,114,000 | 7,658,000 | 1.63 |
| 1937 | 119,098,000 | 11,404,000 | 2.19 |
| 1938 | 104,742,000 | 5,413,000 | 0.38 |
| 1939 | 94,287,000 | 8,290,000 | 1.11 |

Capital stock of the company consists of 442,434 shares of 5 per cent, 154 shares of 5¼ per cent, and 282,997 shares of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, and 3,982,031 shares of no par common stock. Long term debt at the end of 1939 amounted to $2,361,852.

Dividends on the preferred stocks are being paid regularly. Common dividends of 25 cents a share were paid only in 1937 and in 1939, and were omitted entirely in other years since 1930.

UTILITIES' 1940 SPENDING IS PUT AT 593 MILLION

Increase Capacity 4.7 Per Cent.

Washington, D. C., March 24 [Special].—The federal power commission reported today that proposed construction expenditure by electric utility companies in 1940, mostly by privately owned plants, would increase installed capacity by 4.7 per cent.

Total expenditures in 1940 will be $593,879,533, of which $227,060,565 will be spent for generating plants and the remainder for other electric plants, the report said. Of the total $490,434,261 will be spent by privately owned utilities and $103,445,272 by publicly owned units.

These expenditures, the report said, will provide an additional installed capacity of 1,877,844 kilowatts, of which 1,332,635 kilowatts are to be added by privately owned utilities and the remaining 545,209 kilowatts by publicity owner utilities.

Hydro Profits Gain.

Scheduled additions of 1,264,085 kilowatts are to be made in privately owned steam plants, and 270,372 kilowatts in publicly owned steam plants; 11,550 kilowatts of internal combustion generating equipment will be added by privately owned utilities, and 40,662 kilowatts by publicly owned utilities.

On Jan. 1, 1940, total installed capacity of all generating equipment was 40,317,924 kilowatts, the report said. Installed capacity of hydroelectric plants on Jan. 1, 1940, was 11,415,165 kilowatts, the installed capacity of steam plants 28,046,948 kilowatts, and the installed capacity of internal combustion engine plants 355,811 kilowatts.

Budgeted Expenditures.

Budgeted expenditures during the current year for hydro-electric plants total $3,337,110 by privately owned utilities and $48,721,000 by publicly owned utilities. Budgeted expenditures for steam plants total $150,781,568 by privately owned utilities and $21,273,242 by publicly owned utilities. Budgeted expenditures for internal combustion generating equipment total $1,098,967 by privately owned utilities and $3,838,678 by publicly owned utilities.

Oil Reserves Mount to New Peak of 18 Billion Barrels

New York, March 24 (AP).—The "proved" oil reserves of the United States increased 1,134,866,000 barrels in 1939 to a new record of 18,483,012,000 barrels, the American Petroleum institute announced today.

The net increase was calculated after deducting actual production of 1,264,256,000 barrels from the 2,399,122,000 in reserves discovered or developed in new and old fields, the institute explained.

The committee on petroleum reserves said the figures represented "only a conservative estimate" by geologists and oil engineers based on present production methods.

Untested Areas Excluded.

"No estimates are included for oil which still is to be found in areas known to be favorable to the accumulation of oil but as yet untested," the announcement said.

Most of the expansion in reserves came from development of fields discovered before Jan. 1, 1939, with new production in 14 states accounting for a minimum of 340,667,000 barrels in reserves.

Illinois, rising fast as an oil producing state, was third. It accounted for 233,921,000 barrels, making total proved reserves 381,636,000 barrels, compared with 40,884,000 on Jan. 1, 1938.

Reserves of 100,000,000 barrels or more also were added in Arkansas, Kansas, and Louisiana.

Two States Enter List.

For the first time Mississippi and Nebraska entered the list, having discovered oil in commercial quantity last year. New pools in these states were estimated "conservatively" at 6,800,000 barrels.

Proved reserves of leading oil states were tabulated as follows: Texas, 9,768,371,000; California, 3,532,342,000; Louisiana, 1,173,225,000; Oklahoma, 1,063,152,000; Kansas, 725,467,000; New Mexico, 687,168,000; Illinois, 381,636,000; Wyoming, 305,616,000; Arkansas, 320,148,000; Pennsylvania, 183,123,000.

ANACONDA COPPER NET EARNINGS CLIMB MORE THAN 100 PCT. IN 1939

Net income of Anaconda Copper Mining company increased more than 100 per cent in 1939, Cornelius F. Kelley, president, disclosed yesterday in his annual report. Earnings amounted to $20,236,552, or $2.33 a share on the capital stock, compared with $9,542,615, or $1.10, in 1938.

Cornelius F. Kelley.

"Immediately prior to and following the declaration of war," Kelley said, "extraordinary large tonnages of copper were sold, and both production and deliveries increased rapidly."

Total deliveries of copper by the company in domestic and foreign markets increased to 883,235,702 pounds from 790,083,357 in 1938, he said.

SMALLEST CORN ACREAGE IN 46 YEARS FORECAST

The smallest corn acreage in 46 years will be planted by American farmers this spring, according to the department of agriculture.

Plantings will total 87,770,000 acres, compared with 91,501,000 planted and 88,803,000 harvested in 1939, the department report indicated. The largest acreage was 112,061,000 in 1932.

Chicago crop authorities said that on the basis of the average yield per acre harvested in 1939, the 1940 acreage would yield about 2,510,000,000 bushels of corn. This would be about 110,000,000 bushels less than in 1939.

TRADE TREATY BATTLE BEFORE SENATE TODAY

Washington, D. C., March 24 [Special].—The senate tomorrow will tackle the bill to extend the reciprocal trade agreements act three years. The administration leadership is confident it can deliver the legislation to the White House in the form President Roosevelt considers necessary to carry out his foreign trade expansion program.

What promises to be a major fight will come over a proposal sponsored by a coalition led by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, to make treaties negotiated under the act subject to senate ratification.

This proposal is opposed by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull on the ground that foes of the treaties could retard or destroy the program thru dilatory tactics. It has been reported the President said he would veto the bill if it came to him with such a proviso.

February Public Relief Cases Reduced in Number

FOREIGN STEEL DEMAND SETS WARTIME PEAK

Domestic Output Is About Steady.

Current demand from abroad for American steel is the heaviest since the European war began, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

Alloy bar manufacturers are receiving a large number of inquiries, frequently involving special grades apparently intended for military equipment manufacture, the magazine said. France, Holland, and Sweden have been most active in the alloy bar market.

"Steel buying shows further moderate gains," the magazine said, "with the principal support resulting from inventory depletion by domestic consumers and from export markets.

Common Products Gaining.

"Sellers of the commoner products report an increasing number of consumers entering the market for the first time in several months.

"The rate of decline in steel production, which has been slowing in recent weeks, apparently has reached a resting place and last week was unchanged from the preceding week at 62.5 per cent of mill capacity. A recovery of 2½ points at Pittsburgh served to balance slight losses in several other districts."

Steel said that the building construction industry is expanding gradually, increasing the use of steel in that quarter, and that the barge building business is the best on record, creating a demand for plates and shapes.

Rail Buying Is Light.

Railroad buying of steel was described as light and scattered, but the journal said steel mills may benefit from new freight car purchases by the roads. It said purchases of freight cars between now and the end of the year may reach 50,000.

Steel's composite iron and steel price declined 2 cents last week to $36.84 a ton, and the scrap composite dropped 33 cents to $16.25, the lowest since early in September.

A PURE bred Southdown ram from England will be added to the breeding flock at the Du Page county farm this summer. An order has been placed with F. W. Harding, importer of sheep and Shorthorn cattle, for a yearling ram, to be included in his spring purchase of British Southdowns.

Harding expects to bring several rams and some breeding ewes from England for Southdown breeders in this country. Some of the animals will come from the royal estate ar Sandringham where one of the leading Southdown flocks in England is kept.

Expected About July 1.

The ram is expected to arrive at the farm about July 1. Due to recurrent outbreaks of foot and mouth disease in England, it is necessary to hold sheep and cattle, bought in that country, in quarantine in Scotland for 60 days before shipping them to the United States or Canada.

Harding has arranged to have the sheep and Shorthorn cattle that he buys in England this spring shipped to Walter Bigger's farm near Dalbeattie, Scotland, to be held in quarantine until they are declared free from infection. Then the animals will be shipped to Quebec, Canada, and quarantined for two weeks before they are sent to the United States.

Following his custom of more than 40 years in importing pure bred live stock, Harding will have an experienced shepherd or cattle man accompany the animals on the trip from Scotland. He brought over his first shipment of breeding cattle and sheep in 1898 and has made 27 trips abroad since to buy more.

Completes a Transition.

The purchase of the new ram and the sale of a few grade ewes before breeding time next fall will complete the transition from a grade to a pure bred flock at the farm.

The change has been made gradually to save the expense of buying large numbers of pure bred animals at one time. Pure bred rams had been used for several years when 67 pure bred Southdown ewes were bought from C. J. Brodie of Stouffville, Ontario, Canada, in 1937. These ewes are descendants of some of England's finest Southdown flocks, their blood lines extending to Lady Ludlow's Luton Hoo flock and to the king's flock at Sandringham.

Heading the flock is Down South, a fine Southdown ram from the Land o'Goshen farm, Goshen, Ky., near Louisville. He will be retained in the flock after the arrival of the new ram from England.

FEBRUARY TRUCK TRAFFIC DIPS, BUT PASSES YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., March 24 [Special].—The volume of revenue freight transported by motor truck in February decreased 5.7 per cent under the volume transported in January, but increased 17.5 per cent over the tonnage carried in February, 1939, the American Trucking associations reported today.

The index figure, computed for 208 motor carriers in 39 states and the District of Columbia on the basis of the 1936 monthly average tonnage of the reporting carriers as 100, stood at 117.55 for February. In January the index was 123.54 and in February 1939, it was only 101.90.

BANK DEPOSITS SET NEW PEAK OF 56 BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., March 24 (AP).—American bank deposits rose 13 per cent to the unprecedented total of $56,076,000,000 in 1939. This total, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation reported today, was held on last Dec. 30 by the 13,535 banks insured by the agency.

Loans and discounts increased 5 per cent to $16,866,000,000.

Holdings of federal government obligations or government guaranteed securities increased 7 per cent to $15,567,000,000.

Eastern Rail and Bus Fare Cuts Are Effective Today

New York, March 24 (AP).—Eastern railroads will reduce their one-way coach fares from two and a half cents to two cents a mile at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow. Round trip fares will range as low as one and a half cents, the exact rate being determined by a sliding scale according to distance traveled. Major bus lines will put sharp reductions into effect on longer runs which meet competition from the railroads. The railroads will retain their three cent a mile Pullman rate.
